'Smothered' With Conditions, 'Mothered' With Pleas

By BOB PETERSON

Damien House, smothered with 20 conditions of operation, but mothered with many more eloquent pleas for existence, last night became a reality in South San Francisco.

In anticipation of a large crowd the councilmen moved the meeting to the El Camino High School Little Theater. More than 200 attended.

The motion in favor of Damien House, passed on a 4-0 vote with one abstention. The planning commission previously had favored the use permit for Damien House.

The conditions include a bar on narcotics plus general, health, lighting and exit rules applicable to most buildings. If they violate any of the restrictions they will have to show cause why they are not ousted.

The Damien House operation is a drop in center for young people to talk over any and all problems. The original Damien House has been operated in San Mateo for two years.

Councilman Bill Borba initially came out strong against the drop-in center's location — 923 Linden Avenue, a commercially zoned area. He had numerous statistics of what he called bad experiences at the San Mateo Damien House, of which the South San Francisco facility is an offshoot.

"I just don't think Damien House is the answer," said Borba. He had no answer when asked if he had been informed of the good acts of Damien House.

Midway through the comments, Councilman Frank Mammini noted that he had attended many Damien House meetings and said "I believe these people are honestly trying to do a job as grownups haven't been able to do. Where is the right place? Is it in limbo?

"By law they have met every requirement. Yet we are trying to deny them the chance of trying to do something for themselves." Mammini then made a motion to approve the facility. It was seconded by Councilman Warren Steinkamp.

Mayor Patrick Ahern, however, said he felt everyone should be given an opportunity to talk, and the discussion continued. Ahern's voice ultimately blended in with the ayes. Councilman Frank Bertucci, after a remark that his "primary duty is to look out for all our citizens, young and old," also murmured an aye. Borba's expected negative vote came out as an abstention.

NORTH REGION NEWS in Brief

FOOD STAMP sales are reported nil at the War Memorial Community Center, according to First National Bank of Daly City spokesman. Program began Monday in cloakroom off the lobby on Monday, continuing through November 6, then again on the first five working days after the 15th of each month.

A LOW BID of $8,419 by Watkin, Sibbald and Bortolussi, Inc. won the contract for the beautification project on the entrance to South San Francisco on Airport Boulevard between Randolph Avenue and Butler Road.

SOUTH SAN FRANCISCO COUNCILMEN apparently are not satisfied with recent concrete work on the new swimming pool at Orange Memorial Park.

Councilman Frank Bertucci said "there are too many cracks" and he would not accept the work on the pool under those conditions.

Acting City Manager Larry Ross said a report is forthcoming on the situation. Mayor Ahern said "we'd rather have it (the concrete work) done right."

The matter was then dropped.

THE JEFFERSON Elementary School District's Board of Trustees Monday approved a proposed boundary change in the Serramonte subdivision and discussed budgetary woes.

Trustee Chairman Ed Tomasello suggested definite community participation and Larry Anderson, president of the teachers' association, cited a desire to route teacher involvement via the Negotiating Council on the money matter.

Earlier stories on page 27.

THE SOUTH SAN FRANCISCO civil defense operation will go through a simulated training emergency exercise Friday morning at West Orange Library beginning at 8:30 a.m.

Acting City Manager Larry Ross said the exercise will involve a simulated radiological disaster within the city.

AN ADMINISTRATIVE move to put "more muscle and sharper teeth" into regulations prohibiting improper flag display at San Mateo County's Junior Colleges is in the offing, according to Chancellor Clifford G. Erickson.

"The three college presidents and I will not stand for any repetitions of the recent student incident at Skyline College," Erickson said following the so-called "upside-down flag" issue at Skyline was brought to light last week.

In the meantime a recall election aimed at the Skyline student body president is scheduled for today and tomorrow. Related stories on page four.

SOUTH SAN FRANCISCO councilmen have extended the deadline for receipt of applications for the position of city manager.

Acting City Manager Larry Ross told the councilmen 29 applications have been received. He said he anticipated "stragglers" and wanted to know whether the council's first placed deadline of October 31 would be final.

Ross pointed out that one magazine advertisement would only have been out for approximately 10 days. Councilmen therefore agreed to extend the deadline for applications to November 16, the next council meeting.

'Harrassing Tactics' By Water Board?

By FRANK LAPIERRE

Daly City mayor Bernard J. "Bud" Lyett has expressed unhappiness with the State Water Quality Control Board for the past five years — ever since it ordered the city to stop polluting local ocean beaches with garbage.

When a proposed resolution which would give the water agency added powers passed over his desk Monday, Mayor Lyett urged his fellow councilmen to vociferously oppose it rather than tuck it away without comment.

"I just don't want them (the State Water Quality Control Agency members) to have more power than they now have," Lyett explained.

Lyett reminded the council it was this agency that has accused the city of polluting beaches with garbage from the Mussel Rock dump and ordered the nuisance be abated by construction of a gigantic seawall, among other things.

"The wall was built to agency specifications two full years ahead of schedule," city engineer David Macabee pointed out.

The State agency wants to be notified by cities and counties of any tentative subdivision maps coming before them along with findings on whether additional wastes generated by new developments would result in, or add to, requirement violations.

Additionally, the new law would demand a report of findings and supporting data on the effect the discharge of waste would have on requirements already set down by the board.

Water agency officials say the proposed law would benefit local governments and their own office by providing the agency with "necessary information to fulfill our responsibilities."

Fred H. Dierker, executive officer of the State Water Board, asked Daly City for comments on the subject by November 6, although no action is contemplated until the San Francisco Board of Supervisors meets.

RECALL MONEY is held by San Bruno Barbara Ross during last week's council meeting. Mrs. Ross said the package contained $150 in $1 bill donations. She said the money was collected during a trip throughout the city in which she asked donors what they thought of a one-page flyer that named Councilmen George Corey and Maurice Hamilton (who favor the recall movement) as "heavies" in a "bi-weekly (council meetings) comedy and tragedy."

Stop Bickering, San Bruno Told

A Capuchino High School senior told the San Bruno City Council Thursday to stop the bickering and nit-picking.

Don Lunghi of Millbrae was referring to a series of events at the meeting last night which included:

Concern by Councilman Maurice Hamilton over an expenditure of $400 by City Manager Christopher (Kit) Menkin for books charged to contingency funds.

This led to concern by Councilman Dick Griffith over a monthly listing by Hamilton of $10 for telephone expenses.

Also discussed was mailed material, slamming Councilmen Hamilton and Corey, and sent to a select few San Bruno residents.

Lunghi explained that the reason he and many other students attended the council meeting was because it was required by the school's government class.

"We see local government like it is, in action," said Lunghi. "I came to San Bruno tonight because I heard it was active. It is backwardly active. If you took a poll at Capuchino it would show that 90 per cent of the kids think of this as a farce.

"You are acting as our teacher," continued Lunghi. "But I think you can do without the bickering and accusations."

Hamilton said the comments were a serious indictment of San Bruno government and added, "I agree with you." The councilman then went on to explain the "distrust and lack of confidence that now exists" came about only since the appointment of Menkin.

Griffith, however, told the youth, "Good government is trying to be born in San Bruno." He said that the confusion and bickering is because the city is in a change to good government.

Councilman Ted Long said that if any government is going to change it must do so with everyone working together. He encouraged Lunghi to offer suggestions for change.

Lunghi said he hoped the nit-picking would stop after this meeting.

As to Hamilton's concern about the expenditure made by the city manager, the councilman said he understood the money spent on the purchase of law books and law publications.

The dispute over the purchase of law books provoked a statement from Councilman Hamilton, "I know Menkin is interested in on the job training and hopefully could get something from it."

The mailed material was brought up by resident Barbara Ross. She read the item, which he said she and several persons involved in the recall movement had received.

It pictured a trumpeter and a scroll and called attention to the council meeting as "The bi-weekly comedy and tragedy." Hamilton and Corey's names were listed as the "heavies" in the drama.

Rec Merger Concept Gets Pacifica Nod

Laguna Salada Elementary School District trustees and the Pacifica City Council have agreed in "concept" to a proposed master plan involving recreational merger and establishment of Community Center program.

The two public bodies did not get into details of how such a program ultimately would be administered, although one proposal is that the school district have the administrative control.

City and school staffs, which have devised initial reports and recommendations, were encouraged to look further at the possibility of a merger and adoption of a "master plan of recreational programming for the joint merger program."

A nine-member student committee, representing city and school staffs, offered a number of recommendations that:

Recall Petition Response Mayor Christal, Griffith File Replies

San Bruno Mayor Neil Christal and Councilman Dick Griffith have answered notices of intention to circulate recall petitions against them and Councilman Ted Long by Lance Miller of 522 Poplar Avenue.

Mayor Christal's reply to the petition urged the public to ask questions.

Griffith's reply warned against the abuse of recall procedures. Councilman Long indicated he would file a reply Wednesday.

Three main questions asked but left unanswered by Mayor Christal were: Does it matter where the money to pay for this recall comes from? Does it matter if the large apartment buildings are behind this recall? Does it matter if this recall is masterminded by a former city councilman and campaign manager of a present city councilman, both of whom were defeated in the election held last April?

Christal pointed out that he has been a member of the council since 1962, having served as mayor four times. He noted, too, that he received the most votes in the last campaign which saw two incumbents defeated.

According to the mayor's response the recall effort is really aimed at City Manager Christopher (Kit) Menkin. Christal devoted three-quarters of his reply to the good he feels Menkin already has done and will do for the city.

Griffith "respectfully requested" that residents "not rely on hearsay or give in to any high-pressure rush to judgment."

He noted there are 17 sections to the California Elections Code "stipulating the conditions under which you (the petition signer) or the circulators could become liable for large fines or prison terms if any abuse of recall procedures occurs."

"It is my belief that proponents of this petition have already committed procedural errors which will invalidate this instrument," Griffith said.

He said he would continue to "work for economical government and a livable environment — and for open meetings."

In the recall petition notice Miller says the three councilmen "violated the basic democratic principle that elected officials should discuss, debate and consider important issues prior to rendering decisions."

It also states the appointment of Menkin "violated basic fairness" and "casts a cloud of suspicion and distrust over all municipal operations."

Griffith said he was concerned with the possibility that the city's federal insurance might be affected.

Councilmen, however, unanimously agreed to grant the permit on condition Kaiser file an indemnity agreement protecting the city against claims of damage or loss due to flooding.

Other routine conditions also were imposed, including the filing of a $10,000 performance bond.

Kaiser plans call for a land fill of approximately 95,000 yards, raising the level from five to eleven feet in parts of the area fronting El Camino Real.

According to Department of Public Works Director Lou

City Attorney John Noonan expressed concern that the fill level proposed by Kaiser did not meet Corps of Engineer standards and therefore might jeopardize the city's position with the Corps on flood control matters.

He also said he was concerned with the possibility that the city's federal insurance might be affected.

The new Kaiser Foundation Hospital planned for South San Francisco had a hard time getting off the ground Monday night as councilmen toyed with the granting of a grading permit.

Plans Given for Pacifica Portola Day Observance

Observance of the 201st anniversary of San Francisco Bay's discovery by Don Gaspar de Portola will be held in Pacifica Saturday.

The Portola Day celebration will be at 10 a.m. at the Crespi Elementary School on Fessler Avenue. The program will include a movie made by Pacifica school children and a slide presentation on the Portola expedition's path in San Mateo County.

A trek by foot and horseback up the ridge to the Bay Discovery Site will follow.

Jean Fassler of Pacifica, chairman of the San Mateo County Board of Supervisors, Dr. Frank M. Stanger, county historian and Thomas E. Moore, vice president of the Portola Expedition Bi-Centennial Foundation, will be among the speakers.

The slide presentation was prepared by Carl McCarthy and will be narrated by Judge F. Jose de Larica.

The Portola Expedition Bi-Centennial Foundation last year sponsored a gigantic observance of the 200th anniversary of the Portola discovery.

Large balloons that will be visible from both Skyline and Coast Highways will mark the Discovery Site, according to committeemen.

SSF Boy, 8, Accidentally Shot; Critical

An eight-year-old South San Francisco boy remains in critical condition today at Peninsula Hospital, Burlingame, after accidentally being shot in the head Sunday with a .45 caliber bullet.

Edward John Stephenson, of 642 Mayfair Ave. was taken to the hospital at 9:30 a.m. Sunday.

Police said the young lad was struck by a bullet that discharged from a gun being handled by Anthony Hobson, 14, in his home at 646 Mayfair Avenue.

Authorities said Hobson was taken to Hillcrest Juvenile Center for possession of a firearm that had been stolen from a vehicle three blocks away.

Wife of Educator Takes Own Life

The death of Mrs. Winnifred Morgan, wife of Jefferson Union High School Superintendent Edward D. Morgan, was ruled a suicide by the San Mateo County coroner's office.

Mrs. Morgan was found sitting behind the wheel of the family car inside the garage at 123 Garden Lane, Colma, by her husband shortly after noon Saturday.

A garden hose had been attached to the car's exhaust pipe and through the left front window of the vehicle.

The victim left a note that said simply "I love you all with all my heart."

No reason for the suicide was given.

Morgan told coroner's investigator William Scott he and his wife had attended the Friday "Daly City Night" activities at the Cow Palace Grand National Livestock show and "had a good time."

Saturday morning, as was his custom, Morgan played golf at the Lake Merced Country Club, which borders his home, with Superior Court Judge Frank Blum, and Congressman Paul N. (Pete) McCloskey.

Shortly after noon Judge Blum drove Morgan home whereupon he found his wife's body.

She was pronounced dead on arrival at Mary's Help Hospital at 1:10 p.m. by Dr. John G. Callahan.

Private funeral services were held Monday morning at Lasswell's Funeral Home in Daly City. Interment followed at Woodlawn Cemetery Memorial Park.

The 57-year-old victim is survived by her husband, daughters, Pamela and Marilyn, and sister Elinor Steiner.

Contributions to the Florence Crittenden Home are requested.

Morgan has been the Jefferson High District superintendent 14 years, coming from Dinuba where he served in similar capacity.

'Harrassing Tactics' By Water Board?

Bay Region section of the Agency holds its regular meetings on November 24.

Councilman McRobert Stewart agreed with Mayor Lyett and noted the water agency is "already so involved" with other matters throughout the state "they shouldn't take on more."

Stewart also agreed with Lyett that it now appeared the water board was using "harrassing tactics" against cities and the councilmen should make their feelings a matter of record.

But Councilmen Frank Pacelli, Tony Giamonna and Louis J. Papan, apparently agreeing with city manager David Rowe's recommendation that the matter be dropped, indicated the city should quietly pigeonhole the correspondence without comment.

Pacifica Girl Gets $190,000 for Injuries

A 10-year-old Pacifica girl has been awarded a $190,000 settlement resulting from burns suffered three years ago in a San Francisco cable car accident.

San Mateo attorney Joseph W. Cotchett, representing the girl, Patricia Taylor, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Taylor, said the settlement was offered by the city after only one day of trial before Superior Judge Bernard Glickfeld in an Francisco.

The settlement was approved Friday by the San Francisco Public Utilities Commission. Cotchett stated that the Taylor youngster suffered burns of the right arm and left leg in the mishap, December 3, 1967. He filed suit on behalf of the girl for $200,000 damages.

Housing Unit Given Support In Daly City

Daly City Monday indicated it was receptive to establishment of a housing committee that would advise the council on housing needs of its citizens.

The word "advise" was emphasized by councilman Frank Pacelli who has been looking into the question of setting up such an agency for the past several months.

If and when a housing committee, made up of local citizens, is formed it will basically content itself with advising the council on needs of the city and will not have any power over such housing, it was explained.

Pacelli informed the council he found "some merit in considering formation of the housing committee."

One important part of the formation of such a committee, Pacelli said, was that certain federal funds were becoming available for housing studies — particularly where senior citizens were concerned.

Pacelli next plans to name a group that will eventually form the nucleus of the committee, he informed the council.

Support for the project was unanimously endorsed by his fellow councilmen.

Rec Merger Concept Gets Pacifica Nod

implemented by both agencies involved.

A priority list for development be established, indicating which programs are to go into effect in implementing the total community center concept.

Adequate funds be made available by the school district and the City of Pacifica for staffing each community center with a recreation coordinator.

Committees be established to work and study in each area of the program.

The proposal calls for a year-round Community Center program to provide summer, after school and evening programs for elementary-aged children and citizens of the community.

The Community Center program, a special committee report indicates, "is developed utilizing a school facility as the center for the recreation activities in an immediate neighborhood. The Community Center would then have the responsibility of providing program activities for all citizens living in the immediate neighborhood."

"The community center would be the agent whereby school and recreation department and community groups could all be coordinated to provide the best program possible for the citizens in that neighborhood."

Crime, War Top Issues, Ryan Says

Crime, the Vietnam conflict, high taxes and pollution ranked as the top four issues of concern to North County residents, according to a public opinion questionnaire conducted by Assemblyman Leo Ryan.

Some 14,405 votes were cast in the mail ballot sent to voters in the district. Ryan said that it was the biggest response since he began mailing out the questionnaires eight years ago.

Voters also declared by a three-to-one margin that they favored further liberalization of abortion laws. Nearly 50 per cent favored splitting California into two states.

Crime was the number one issue for 28 per cent of the voters; 22 per cent listed the Vietnam war; 19 per cent listed high taxes and 13 per cent felt that pollution came first.

Most felt that the government was "fairly run" although "poorly run" came in second with 39 per cent and "well run" only got 10 per cent.

Loses Wheel

A United Air Lines' Boeing 747 jumbo jet lost one of its 18 wheels this morning just after breaking ground for a flight from San Francisco to Honolulu.

Flight 181, departing at 9:16 a.m. with 143 passengers and 19 crew members, immediately returned to the airport here. A near-normal landing was made, and passengers were re-boarded to other aircraft and sent on to Hawaii.

Driver in Critical Condition

James Edward Mosley, 34, of San Francisco, was reported in critical condition with injuries suffered on Sunday when his car rolled over two or three times on top of a retaining wall on Junipero Serra Freeway near Broadmoor Village.

Another driver, Sam Masini Sato, 32, of San Francisco, a warehouseman, told California Highway Patrolman that Mosley's car sideswiped his auto after coming up at a high rate of speed, continued on about 500 feet, swerved suddenly and flipped over on top of the wall.

Mosley was taken to Mary's Help Hospital in Daly City.

Poll Brunans on Sidewalk Improvments

Property owners on the 400, 500 and 600 block of San Mateo Avenue in San Bruno are being polled to determine interest in establishing a district to levy assessments for sidewalk improvement.

City Manager Christopher (Kit) Menkin said the city's cost in such a district would be approximately $13,000. The city will be involved because of underground utility pipes.

Menkin said the pipes are due to be replaced in three years and if done before then in conjunction with complete renovation of the sidewalks the city would save money.

It was the general consensus among the councilmen that merchants along San Mateo Avenue must do something to improve the downtown shopping area if they are to compete with the new Tanforan Shopping Center.

Most often discussed is a specialty-type shopping area such as San Francisco's Union Street.

Second Fire Bomb Attack On Structure

A vacant condemned house at 522 San Diego Avenue in Daly City was the target of a second fire bomb attack in less than a week Sunday night.

John Clatt, a resident of the neighborhood where the structure is located, told police he saw a well-dressed man calmly walk away from the house after hearing an explosion about 10:45 p.m. Sunday.

The man climbed into a black over gold coupe and drove slowly off.

When he looked across the street he saw the corner of the house burning, Clatt said.

Fire and police investigators found fragments of what might possibly be a fire bomb — cloth wick and a bleach bottle.

No damage was reported.

tion. "It is just like a no vote," explained Borba.

The first speaker was Leo Sack, a 19-year-old resident of the city and chairman of the friends of Damien House. He said work has been progressing on Damien House for nearly three years and it was now in the "critical" stages.

Paul Nielsen, superintendent of the South San Francisco Unified School District, also spoke. He said he was not representing the trustees, who have gone on record in favor of Damien House in principle, but rather as a representative of "a certain segment" of students.

"We in the school district need some help," said Nielsen. "We can't do the job—and these people have been doing a fine job — they are doing on a 24 hour basis."

"I'm not emotional," said Nielsen, "but we need some help. The school district has not been permissive in its attitude. We've expelled all students involved with the sale of drugs on campus. We need help badly."

Do what is best for these young people."

Syl Heumann, owner of Metropolitan Furniture next to the Damien House site, said he was looking forward to having the home as a neighbor. "Things like Damien House work," said Heumann.

"Society should recognize that we have kids who want to help themselves. It is our responsibility to help solve this drug problem," said Heumann.

The main opposition was not against the Damien House concept, but rather that it would be located in the wrong place.

Bob Miller, a property owner adjacent to the site, was representative of this segment.

He said he didn't realize narcotics played such a large part of the program. "It was misrepresented to me," said Miller. "Most businessmen and the residents nearby do not want it."

"I'm against the location," continued Miller. "The building is not big enough. The parking is not adequate. That's the worst corner in the city for traffic."

Miller also said he felt that an addition to an area should mean improvement for that area. "No one has yet to prove to me that Damien House will improve that area," said Miller. "But there is a chance it will be detrimental."

John Dillon, with the Department of Motor Vehicles in San Mateo, which is adjacent to the San Mateo Damien House, said, "the department (of motor vehicles) doesn't even know it (Damien House) exists."

Resident Robert Volosinger said that there was "the aspect of fear, the stigma of narcotics in our neighborhood."

Father James Purcell of All Soul's Catholic Church said "the worse thing you can do for a human being is tell him to go somewhere else."

San Bruno Opposes Navy Plan for Land Court Jol

San Bruno councilmen have gone on record opposing use of 7.5 acres of Navy lands in the city for a national archives and records site until more details are forthcoming.

Mayor Neil Christal said the Association of Bay Area Governments (ABAG) originally notified the city of the Federal government's intention to have the 7.5 acres contain not only the archives building but also a post office and motor pool area. According to Christal, ABAG had been notified by the General Services Administration

(GSA) that it had selected the site and figured that it would be good for San Bruno.

Christal said a deal has been made whereby the government's facility at 100 Harrison in San Francisco is to be demolished and the offices moved to San Bruno. He explained it basically as a storage facility, more like a warehouse.

The mayor said he immediately began writing letters and making telephone calls to halt the move.

His concern was that putting the three facilities in the 7.5

acre area would be cluttering. There is no access from El Camino Real, and the access road scheduled for use by the government does not exist. It would have to be built at city expense.

Christal said the city's request for a post office would retain its present priority and the city would not lose the post office if it is not built in the Navy land site.

If followed through, Christal said the proposal also would eliminate present and future planned school sites in the area.

Is Awarded

Work is scheduled to begin within 22 days on a new $1,011,000 addition to the Northern Judicial District courtroom building on Old Mission road in South San Francisco.

Supervisors October 27 awarded a contract for the project to Stevenson Pacific, Inc., the lowest of 10 bidders.

According to Henry P. Tarant, county director of building construction and general services, the addition will double the capacity of the existing facilities — adding three new courtrooms to the three present courtrooms.

Additional office space will be provided for the district attorney and probation offices, and more floor space will be provided for a law library. A new section for attorney-client conferences will be built, along with a new jurors' lounge. Expansion of holding facilities for the sheriff's office also is planned.

The addition is expected to take a year to complete.

County Manager M. D. Tarshes Jr. said officials are working on security measures for the facility.

Tree Planting Set Saturday

"Tree Times Five" organizer Norma Griffith reminded volunteers who have pledged their help to appear at City Park Corporation Yard Saturday at 9 a.m., "and bring your own shovel or spade."

This is the project originally announced by Tree Times Five last August to plant 875 Monterey pines in open spaces throughout the city to replace those recently uprooted by the State Division of Highways in a ratio of five to one.

U.S. Threatens Action Over Flag

United States Attorney James Browning has stepped into the controversy over the upside down flag at Skyline College, threatening prosecution of those involved.

Browning wrote to Dan Tobias, president of the Associated Students at the college: "I wish you to know that if, as reported, the Stars and Stripes was used 'as a pincushion' in your student body office, those who knowingly used the flag as such are subject to criminal prosecution in my opinion. I can promise you that a repetition of such conduct will, upon complaint and investigative identification, be prosecuted to the best of my ability."

"I hope you will make this fact known to those few students who may enjoy sticking pins in the symbol which stands for their right to disagree . . . You will likely fault me for meddling in college affairs; however, the same flag you reportedly inverted is my flag also."

The flag disappeared from the student body office Oct. 27 after an ultimatum was issued by the administration demanding that it be taken down.

Flag Display Forbidden at Skyline

There'll be no more upside down flags at Skyline College.

President Philip Garlington mphas made that clear.

Noting that the flag is gone from the student activities office where it had been hung upside down through the authority of student body president Dan Tobias, Garlington said, "It's going to stay down."

He termed the action of Tobias, who had vetoed a student council resolution to remove the upside-down flag "offensive to our faculty, our students and citizens of this county."

Garlington said he felt that the Tobias flag incident "jeopardizes future students who plan to enter Skyline College." (The junior college district is seeking support for a tax override measure before March to prevent a cut of more than 300 faculty and an enrollment drop of 10,000.)

A recall election is scheduled Wednesday and Thursday on the issue of removing Tobias, who was elected last spring. Garlington pointed out less than ten per cent of students voted. It will take a two-thirds majority vote to remove Tobias, however. "I feel strongly that Dan Tobias, in attempting to further a personal point of view has placed this college in a false light with out voters and citizens in North San Mateo County," Garlington said.

Inverted Flag Called Outrage

Matt Fasanaro, San Mateo Junior College District business manager, Thursday said he had been deeply disturbed to learn that Skyline College's student body office had been flying the American flag upside down.

"It's an outrage to every American," he declared.

Fasanaro had been asked by faculty, the college trustees and student body representatives to run a tax override campaign to prevent the college from being forced to close its doors to 10,000 students and over 300 faculty. He said he is going to postpone an answer until he sees whether all can unite on a campaign of Americanism.

After being asked to run the campaign, Fasanaro met with the presidents of the student bodies of the three colleges Friday, he said.

"I told them we would not want to run this election unless we had complete solidarity and support from students and faculty."

"I told them I was not interested in running any campaign unless I could run it on a platform of Americanism. It is the American way to provide opportunity, not to deny it, and to show appreciation for such opportunity."

"Following that meeting Friday, the student body voted to support the election."

Dan Tobias, the Associated Students' president at Skyline who vetoed a student council majority vote to remove the upside down flag, was present at the Friday meeting and voted to support the bond election, Fasanaro said.

Fasanaro said he feels that Tobias "deliberately provoked this incident with full realization that this would outrage our respected citizenry of San Mateo County. He knew what he was doing."

"He knew it would have a devastating effect on any request for funds from our citizens and taxpayers. It is obvious to me his moves are all designed to seriously compromise any tax election effort that may be mounted."

"And they appear designed to completely negate the positive effort of thousands of students who are trying to raise $25,000 to save the citizens the cost of the special election."

Fasanaro said he was "willing to work my head off to win this election. But I certainly won't do it if this sort of thing is permitted. Students have more responsibility in this very grave situation than parents and taxpayers of the district."

"This is one of the outstanding junior college districts in the nation and this type of thing could drive it right into the chasms of mediocrity overnight."

Brunan Asks Expulsion of Student Chief

A retired serviceman living in San Bruno has told councilmen he wants them to take action to expel immediately the student body president of Skyline College.

Vern Wynn, of 534 Chestnut Street, said he wanted to go on record disapproving the fact that the president, Dan Tobias, placed the flag upside down and used it as a pin cushion.

Mayor Neil Christal, said, "I am just as rednecked as you, and I agree with you, but we have no authority."

Councilman Ted Long, however, came to the defense of Tobias, saying he (Tobias) "has extended himself to goals of keeping the campus a credit to this community."

Long said "many of his (Tobias') companions are pushing for more violence. We shouldn't condemn without investigating. There may be important underlying issues. Maybe it (the upside-down flag) is pacifying 2,000 students who would rather burn down the school."

S.S.F. Needs CD Firemen

South San Francisco needs twice as many Civil Defense Auxiliary Firemen as it now has, Capt. Howard McFarland of the South San Francisco Fire Department announced this week the need for at least nine more auxiliary personnel.

An auxiliary fireman is called in case of a disaster of multiple alarm fire to work side by side with professional firemen. McFarland emphasized, "These are not volunteer positions. Auxiliary personnel are paid a fireman's base wage when they are called into active duty."

Members of the reserve force attend training meetings on the last Monday of each month to learn and rehearse their roles in a given disaster.

For those interested in becoming a Civil Defense Auxiliary Fireman or learning what South San Francisco is doing for civil defense, the reserve force holds its monthly meeting on October 26 at the West Orange Library.

Capt. McFarland asked interested citizens to attend. The program will start at 7:30 p.m. and will deal with all phases of civil defense.

New Way Found To Stop Hair Loss, Grow More Hair

HOUSTON, Texas — If you don't suffer from male pattern baldness, you can now stop your hair loss... and grow more hair.

For years "they said it couldn't be done." But now a firm of laboratory consultants has developed a treatment for both men and women, that is not only stopping hair loss... but is really growing hair!

They don't even ask you to take their word for it. They invite you to try the treatment for 32 days, at their risk, and see for yourself.

Naturally, they would not offer this no-risk trial unless the treatment worked. However, it is impossible to help everyone.

The great majority of cases of excessive hair fall and baldness are the beginning and more fully developed stages of male pattern baldness and cannot be helped.

But, if you are not already slick bald, how can you be sure what is actually causing your hair loss? Even if baldness may seem to "run in your family," this is certainly no proof of the cause of YOUR hair loss.

Hair loss caused by sebum can also run in your family, and, many other conditions can cause hair loss. No matter which one is causing your hair loss, if you wait until you are slick bald, and your hair roots are dead, you are beyond help. So, if you still have any hair on top of your head, and would like to stop your hair loss and grow more hair... now is the time to do something about it before it's too late.

Loesch Laboratory Consultants, Inc., will supply you with treatment for 32 days, at their risk, if they believe the treatment will help you. Just send them the information listed below. All inquiries are answered confidentially, by mail and without obligation.

A one-day conference outlining programs and proposals of Student Alternatives to Violence (SAV) is scheduled at Skyline College, San Bruno, on November 14.

SAV is an organization put together by a group of local individuals interested in bridging the so-called communication gap between college students and the business and political community.

The program at Skyline will include 30 business and civic leaders and 30 student leaders. It will focus on current issues affecting the community.

According to a SAV brochure, the organization is "dedicated to peace and understanding on campus. It is a concerted student effort to root out the causes of resentment and dissatisfaction between young people and adults."

Listed as members of the organization's steering committee are Duane Draper, Chester La Roche, John Long, Theodore Long (San Bruno Councilman), Jonathan Marsh, Dr. Christian Ramsey, Lance Rentzel and Richard Toomey.

The organization's advisory board contains a list of prominent names including Glen Campbell, Elliott Gould, Joey Heatherton (wife of Lance Rentzel), Dustin Hoffman, Gale Sayers, Charles Schulz, O. J. Simpson, Jack Valenti and Dionne Warwick.

SAV is basically concerned with identifying the sources of student discontent and creating the means through which students can actively and effectively work within the existing social and political system to achieve what they consider to be needed social change.

Specifically, according to the brochure, SAV will attempt to:

1. Reduce the anxiety and tension on campuses by opening lines of communication between students, faculty, administrators and the community.
2. Develop mutual respect and understanding essential to forestall the public's resort to punitive measures against the students.

3. Lessen alienation and frustration by giving students opportunities to independently use their enthusiasm, intelligence and idealism in practical programs which will provide the channels necessary to satisfactorily resolve student concern and protest.

4. Seek a consensus of student interest, along with program evaluations and recommendations for future areas of activity.

Bruno Tells Choice for BART Route

San Bruno has gone on record that any extension of BART from Daly City to the airport going through San Bruno should be routed along Interstates 280 and 380 on existing rights-of-way.

The motion carried on a 2-1 vote. The majority vote was by Councilman Ted Long, who introduced the motion, and Councilman Dick Griffith, who seconded the motion.

Councilman Maurice Hamilton said he was voting against the motion, not necessarily because he disapproved of it, but because he felt he was not well enough informed on alternative routing to be so definite about one specific route.

Councilman George Corey is on vacation. Mayor Neil Christal abstained from voting, but apparently agreed with the motion.

THE MINUTEMAN. Here is the Intercontinental Ballistic Missile Minuteman which is on display at Westlake Shopping Center today thru Monday. The display is presented by the United States Air Force in cooperation with the Westlake Center. It is free to all visitors.

Minuteman on Display at Westlake

The powerful Minuteman, the cornerstone of America's missile weapon strategy, will be on display at Westlake Shopping Center.

Visitors may inspect the Minuteman Intercontinental Ballistic Missile (ICBM) at no charge Wednesday through Monday. The exhibit is presented by the United States Air Force in cooperation with the Westlake Center.

The Minuteman is one of three strategic missiles that are vital components of our Nation's effective deterrent to general war. The missile became operational in 1962 under the control of the Strategic Air Command (SAC).

There are six Minuteman missile sites accommodating 1,000 Minuteman missiles. Sites are located in Montana, Wyoming, North Dakota, South Dakota and Missouri.

This small, but devastating Minuteman is a three-stage solid-propellant ICBM. It is distinguished from its bigger brothers, the Titan and the Atlas, because of its lighter weight and lower cost. It can be launched within minutes should the United States be attacked.

Weighing between 60 and 70 thousand pounds, depending upon the model, the Minuteman is stored and launched from a concrete and steel silo. This makes the missile virtually immune from enemy attack since it can only be knocked out by a direct nuclear hit.

Minuteman travels at more than 22 times the speed of sound. It has a range of between 6,300 and 8,000 miles (depending upon model).

Baptist Plan Evangelistic Series

The executive secretary of the Northern California Baptist Conference, the Rev. Carl (Cully) Olson, will hold a weekend series of evangelistic meetings at Westside Baptist Church.

The meetings will be held at the church, 390 Inverness Drive, Pacifica. The Friday and Saturday evening meetings will begin at 7:30 p.m., and the Sunday services as usual at 10:55 a.m. and 7 p.m. Reverend Olson is a graduate of Bethel College and Seminary, St. Paul, Minn., and his pastored churches in Minnesota, Alaska, Washington, and Simi Valley California, before coming to his present position.

His son, Dan, a ventriloquist, will share the program with his father. Mrs. Olson, his wife, also will be included, as pianist.

Sunday, during the opening exercises of the Sunday School, Dan will speak to the primary Sunday school department; Ol-folk group from Fair Oaks Baptist Church of Concord will perform.

Reverend Olson will speak at the combined junior high through college age youth group Sunday at 6 p.m., while his son will speak to the "junior astronauts." Pastor David Donnelly will begin a new pastor's class for youth and adults. This class is to inform newcomers to the church as to what the church teaches, the ordinances of the church, a brief historical sketch of the denomination; and what is expected of a church member.

Women's Bible study class will meet November 10 in the church social hall. The study is to be in the Gospel of Mark.

Prayer and Bible Study Hour will be at 7:30 p.m. today at the church, and at this our Pastor Donnelly is leading in a verse-by-verse study of the book of Romans, currently studying in the sixth chapter.

Following Bible Study Hour, the group divides into smaller groups for prayer. During this 7:30 hour each Wednesday, The Girls' Missionary Guild — an organization sponsored by the local Women's Missionary Society — will meet.

There are three age-group meetings: Primary for second and third grade girls led by Mrs. Geraldine Thomsen and Miss Diane Swedberg; junior for fourth through sixth grade girls, led by Mrs. John Lagomarsino and Mrs. Alton Swedberg; and junior high guild, with Mrs. Lester Arvidson and Mrs. James Corley, leaders.

Ann Barber Is Married

The garden of the Millbrae home of Col. and Mrs. John W. Barber was the recent setting for the wedding and reception of their daughter, Ann, and Richard V. Tudor.

When Ann approached the altar with her father, she was wearing a French white velvet gown trimmed with lace. The bride was graduated from Mercy High School and Arizona State University.

Sole attendant for her sister was Mrs. Michael (Kay) Hanlon who wore a blue embroidered velvet skirt and white blouse.

TERRA NOVA TOPICS

END - OF - THE - QUARTER blues have hit TN this week, and many students are spending nights cramming for midterm exams (a grueling switch from Halloween festivities).

Tiger Tales, TN's quarterly news magazine, will make the scene this week. This super 40-page issue includes a report on Pacific's Youth Service Bureau, an exciting interview with Australian exchange student Roger Muller, a center-spread on TN students' summer European adventures, a Mini-Midi-Maxi poll, Free Schools, and more.

The cost of this issue is 35 cents with student body card and 75 cents without. Tiger Tales will be sold at both lunches, by members of the journalism class, and can be obtained at the Camera Shop in Linda Mar Shopping Center.

This price increase of 10 cents and 25 cents from past issues is due to the increase of printing costs, and Tiger Tales' expansion from a 32-page magazine to a 40 page magazine. The eight additional pages will be added to the News Summary section and Creative Writing pages, to make up for the mimeographed newspaper, Tiger Cub, produced by the Beginning Journalism class, and Sandscripts, the Creative writing class' literary publication, which will not be published this year under separate cover.

By incorporating all of TN's publications into one product, all three publications will save on printing expenses, and it will create a better quality magazine. The beginning journalism class will be publishing their poems and stories in four 6-page installments, instead of one publication at the end of the year.

These new improvements in addition to the high quality writing and coverage in Tiger Tales, will be well worth the extra cost.

Play Tickets Go on Sale; ORT Event

Tickets are now on sale for the Pacifica Spindrift Players' holiday production of Gian-Carlo Menotti's opera, "Amahl and the Night Visitors."

The musical was first performed Christmas Eve, 1951 on NBC's Television Opera Theatre and has been an annual event for the Christmastide season ever since.

South San Francisco's Anthony Stibor, who has had experience with the San Francisco Boys' Chorus, and Pacifica's Frank Simon, who has worked with the Children's Opera Theatre of the East Bay, have been cast to sing the lead role of Amahl, each for two of the four performances.

Tickets may be purchased from the Pacifica Chapter of the American Association of University Women or the Pacifica Spindrift Players.

ORT Sabbath will be observed November 20 by Northern Peninsula and Sunlight Chapters of ORT (Organization for Rehabilitation Through Training) at Congregation B'nai Israel, 1375 Annie Street, Colma.

Services will begin at 8:30 p.m.

Mrs. Kurt Goldstrom, a national vice president, will be the guest speaker.

The traditional Oneg Shabbat will be hosted by members of both chapters, Mrs. Sam Ehrlich, Mrs. Ike Goldberg and Mrs. Max Stein.

The Ursuline Guild of St. John's High School will hold the last in a series of "Luncheon and Games" on November 10 in the school auditorium, 4056 Mission Street, at 11:30 a.m.

Proceeds will be used for new educational aids for the students.

The Daly City Recreation Division is offering a holiday candle class which will include unique candle-making techniques and clever decorating tips.

All classes will be held at the Arts and Crafts Center, 101 Peoria.

Two four-week sessions will be offered, November 18 through December 9:

Wednesdays, 10 a.m.-1 p.m. (take a bag lunch); Wednesdays 7-10 p.m.

Each four-week session will be limited to 10 students.

CCD Classes' Program

SISTER MICHAELA of the Confraternity of Christian Doctrine program at Holy Angels Catholic Church will be the guest speaker when that parish's women's guild meets this evening at 8 p.m. in the parish hall.

According to Mrs. John Lagomarsino, publicity chairman for the guild, a special invitation to attend is being extended to all mothers who have children enrolled in the C.C.D. classes.

Guild president, Mrs. Gerald Delfino, will preside this evening and Sister Michaela will be introduced by Mrs. John Provenciale, the program chairman.

The next major event on the parish's social calendar will be the annual Parish Social on Saturday evening.

Word from Mrs. Lagomarsino indicates that social chairman, Mrs. Joseph Zanobini, is expecting a record-breaking turnout for the affair to be held in the Italian American Social Club in San Francisco.

THE SAN MATEO COUNTY YWCA, in cooperation with the San Mateo County Council of churches and the San Mateo County Library system, will sponsor a parent effectiveness seminar this Saturday.

Mrs. Barbara Reich, publicity chairman for the "Y," reports that the all day affair will begin at 9 a.m. on the Skyline College campus.

No preregistration is required for the seminar and the $5 tuition fee may be paid on Saturday morning. Dr. Thomas Gordon, clinical psychologist and the president of Effectiveness Training Associates, will lead the discussions.

YWCA MEMBERS will be involved in the Skyline seminar and in a rummage sale this weekend!

Mrs. Reich reminds everyone that the "Y Buys Bazaar and Rummage Sale" will be held on Saturday between 10 a.m. and 3 p.m. in the Westlake Community Baptist Church, Elmwood Drive at Southgate in Daly City.

Mrs. Collins Orton is chairman of the sale which will feature many Christmas decorations and holiday gifts as well as a fine collection of attractive and highly usable rummage.

THE U.A. CINEMA, in the Stonestown Shopping Center, will open its doors with a champagne Premier screening of The Owl and the Pussy Cat, at 8:30 o'clock Monday evening, according to Mrs. Murray H. Freedman.

The event will be staged as a benefit for the Mission Adult Center, The Western Addition Senior Center and the Self Help for the Elderly in San Francisco.

Mrs. John Dills is chairing the occasion for the Committee for Fund for San Francisco.

Tickets for the Columbia Studio film, which stars Barbra Streisand and George Segal, are now on sale for $5 and $12.50. For more information, or reservations call Mrs. Freedman, 755-8881 or 664-4414.

BROTHER WILLIAM BOLTS will speak to the Riordan guild about Marianist sponsored Foreign Study League Tours of Europe next Tuesday evening, according to Mrs. Thomas Bocci, Jr., publicity chairman for the guild.

Brother William will show slides of last summer's tour, which was enjoyed by a number of Riordan students, and discuss plans for similar tours to be scheduled for summer 1971.

In addition to the talk by the tour leader, program chairman Mrs. John Ferguson, has arranged to have Kenneth Barbieri, drama director at the school, show costumes and present several drama students in excerpts from the up-coming school play, The Would Be Gentleman.

WITH THE HOLIDAY SEASON virtually only a flip of the calendar page away it is time to give some thought to holiday decorations to brighten your home and-or to think of unusual gifts for giving. With this in mind, Mrs. Mario Mangini, publicity chairman for the Mary's Help Hospital Guild suggests you plan to visit the annual Boutique de Noel.

MISS BETTY CASEY will chair the committee in charge of refreshments for the Consecration of St. Martin's Episcopal Church next Wednesday evening.

The Rt. Rev. C. Kilmer Myers, Episcopal, Bishop of California, will conduct the ceremony formally setting apart, irrevocably, for divine services, the fifteen year old Daly City church.

The public is invited to the consecration at 7:30 p.m. and to the coffee hour which will follow, according to the Rev. Timothy S. Rudolph, vicar of St. Martin's.

EACH MONTH MEMBERS of the Mary's Help Hospital Guild honor one of the hospital's volunteer workers. For October honors go to Mrs. Myrtle Peck, one of the newer members who has amassed the amazing total of 2,500 hours of volunteer service since 1966.

Mrs. Peck was the principal of a San Francisco school when she became affiliated with the guild and, when illness forced her into unwilling retirement, she turned to the guild as an outlet for her abundant energies.

She works two days a week as the assistant to Father Wadja and as she helps with his appointment schedule, greets visitors and does the myriad chores associated with the operation of an office, she crochets articles which the guild can use. At present she is working rapidly to complete a lovely afghan which will be presented to a lucky prize winner at the Christmas boutique.

Daly City Address for Newlywed Pair

Our Lady of Mercy Church in Daly City was the recent setting for the marriage of Susan Jo Kaatz of San Francisco and Frank Edward Lawson III of Daly City.

After honeymooning in Hawaii, the couple will make their first home in Daly City.

The daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Everett Elwin Kaatz, the bride attended Lowell High School in San Francisco and San Francisco City College. For her wedding, she wore an ivory length peau de soie and organza gown appliqued with imported lace and pearls.

Mrs. Dennis (Marion) Monaghan of Daly City, sister of the benedict, was matron of honor and secondary attendants were Nancy Kaatz, sister of the bride, Kathryn Becker of Daly City and Patricia Hannon of San Bruno, cousin of the benedict.

The attendants were gowned alike in full length Empire costumes of shocking pink with ivory sleeves and bodices trimmed in floral braiding.

Best man for the son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Edward Lawson was Clifford Box of Daly City. Richard Esposto, Dennis Monaghan, the benedict's brother-in-law, and Richard Lawson, his brother, performed usher duties. Ted Curry carried the rings.

A veteran of the U.S. Army Reserves, the bridegroom is a graduate of Riordan High School and the College of San Mateo. Mrs. Frank E. Lawson and Ida Enoch are his grandmothers. His bride is the granddaughter of Mr. and Mrs. John H. Kaatz and Margaret Dorington.

BRIGHT LIGHTS BY LLOYD JOHNSON

Ed Sullivan Eyeing Finocchio Headliner

Laverne Cummings, glamorous chanteuse in the longrunning Finocchio revue, has another Hollywood deal in the works, similar to his last TV appearance. In addition, he's had some queries for a shot on the Ed Sullivan show on Sunday night. Laverne is one female impersonator who really can fool the customers, who often leave the nitery shaking their heads in disbelief—not only at the realistic makeup and costuming, but the fabulous singing voice of this excellent entertainer. . . . Not only does Romano's Italian restaurant in Pacifica's Rockaway Beach provide outstanding pizzas, but superb full-course Italian dinners as well. Under the ownership of Enrico Romano, this famed Italian dining spot is known for its versatility when it comes to preparing any and all dishes you'd expect to find on an Italian menu. . . . Enjoy the night life of Reno for only $10.50. Yes, Go den Tours leaves Ed's Smoke Shop, 1221 San Carlos Avenue, San Carlos, daily except Sunday at 10 a.m. and 7 p.m. and arrives at the world famous John Ascuaga's Nugget, Reno area's largest. This trip also has a giant bonus of $5 in cash and $2 in food and drink. Enjoy Reno, the Golden Tours way.

L. Cummings

GENERAL MANAGER — Richard Alldred is head man for the Stickney restaurant circuit, and he covers it like Willie Mays covers centerfield for the Giants.

Hotel Sales Management Given Charter Approval

As a result of efforts on the part of an organizing committee comprised of Vienna Watkins, Airport Marina Hotel; Robert Williamson, Hilton Inn; and Steve Norton, Villa Hotel, a chapter of the National Association known as Hotel Sales Management Association has been given charter approval. The charter will be presented in a suitable observance to mark this important occurrence. Norton, who will be the first president of the chapter, noted that a few years ago when coming to the Villa Hotel, it was possible to count the persons in hotel sales on the Peninsula on one hand. They now number, along with allied businesses with common interests, over 30 persons as initial members. Any questions about the Peninsula-San Mateo County Chapter of H.S.M.A. may be directed to its first secretary, Suzanne French, by phoning 345-3541. Function of the chapter is primarily that of maintaining and improving sound business practices in hotel advertising, sales promotion, publicity, and public relations. . . . Frank and Fannie Torres have always specialized in South American specialties at their Beach Restaurant in Montara (just south of Devil's Slide on Coast Highway One). We suggest you try the Arroz Con Pollo (chicken, Peruvian style) or Ceviche, the Peruvian pickled fish.

Steve Norton

For your Reno fun fling, make the new, elegant Ponderosa Hotel, located in the heart of all the action, your headquarters. Park Avenue Tours has packaged many trips including attractive bonuses which are inviting to the pocket book. . . . When the question "Where shall we dine tonight?" is brought up on Sunday, remember, Scotty Campbell's, one of the finest restaurants on the Peninsula, serves dinner seven days a week from 5 p.m. Prime rib and steaks are house specialties on the selective menu. . . . Ten different varieties of casserole dishes with taste excellence are served at Vince's Italian and Seafood restaurant. . . . Zesty Mexican food served at Nick Gust's Papagayo Room, which is situated on the shoreline of Pacifica, is drawing throngs from the Peninsula and San Francisco. Nick's Seashore restaurant and The Moonraker are also under Nick Gust's dining banner. . . . One of the triumphs from the kitchen of Chef Ernie Prokos at the popular Shirt Tail in Palo Alto is "Gazpacho Andalouse." It is chilled Spanish soup made of finely chopped cucumbers, bell peppers, onions, tomatoes and Jalapanos. Served in chilled tomato juice, with tostados. . . . There is never a parking problem for patrons of Lew Lehr's popular steak house in San Francisco's Marina district. Ample parking is found in the new neighborhood parking garage around the block from Lehr's, on Pierce Street. Low meter rates apply before 6 p.m.; evenings are free.

The Lenny Herman Orchestra, The Mightiest Band in the Land, play an enthusiastic beat for the diners and dancers at the Top of the Wheel Tiki Lounge at Harvey's Resort Hotel, South Lake Tahoe, nightly except Tuesday, through November 14. Topping the marquee in the Theater Lounge are the Ink Spots (through November 10) and the Roberta Darin Show (through November 23). Also appearing are the Coulter Twins and Prince Kawoohi and the Goodwood Brothers. . . . The wild Mickie Finn Show, featuring Fred and Mickie Finn, Allene Flannery, the Flying Dutchman and the whole roarin' 20's band, appear twice nightly in the 750-seat Circus Room Theater Restaurant at John Ascuaga's Nugget in Sparks, Nevada, through November 11. Fred Finn, always with one shoe off, plays his piano in the style of the ragtime greats. For a rollicking good time of dixieland music, comedy and wild dancing, see the Mickie Finn Show.

Les Femmes Unique Models For Phil Lehr's

The Grand Circular Staircase of Phil Lehr's elegant Wellington Room at the Steakery in downtown San Francisco will provide the entrance and backdrop for an exciting fashion show Sunday, November 8. The show, intriguingly called "Cocktail-Fashion Sip," will be presented at 6:30 p.m., following a 4 p.m. to 6 p.m. no-host cocktail party with complimentary hors d'oeuvres. Les Femmes Unique models will show lounge wear through cocktail and after-dinner fashions which promise to be of interest to the men as well as ladies. . . . Attractive songstress Gail Muribus and her husband George entertain every Monday evening only at the beautiful Shirt Tail restaurant in Palo Alto. George is a keyboard whiz who has been featured at the Purple Onion and the Playboy Club. He provides smooth dinner music beginning at 7 p.m. Gail, who entertained at the hungry i, joins him at 10 p.m. with her delightful stylings. "Pops from all eras" is their forte. Give them a listen. . . . The classic gourmet dishes of Italy and France enjoyed by diners at Doros, Holiday award winning restaurant in San Francisco, are prepared by their master chef, Paolo Bermani.

Phil Lehr

Singer Johnnie Ray, sometimes referred to as "Mr. Cry," has had his engagement in the packed-nightly Desert Inn's Lady Luck Lounge extended four weeks. Johnny has been one of the biggest successes to hit the glittering Las Vegas Strip. Nice results for a nice guy and outstanding showman. . . . The Shamrock Inn, South Lake Tahoe, highlights a bonus "free night" which is well worth looking into. This is a great family spot. There's an indoor pool, recreation room, and Sauna bath. . . . Park Avenue Tours' "Fall Fun Tours" include a drive-up package with a liberal bonus refund, Overnights (one or two days), and, of course, the usual daily eight-hour turn-around Greyhound Bus schedules which depart from the Valley and Bay Area Greyhound Depots. Park Avenue Tours charters are available anywhere, anytime and for any place. Contact the nearest office for information. . . . One of the world's truly inspired salad makers is Arcadio Agbayani of the Villa Chartier. For 20 years, this perfectionist has created dazzlingly attractive and delicious seafood, Caesar and Mixed Green salads at the Chartier. Beets, kidney beans, carrots, tomatoes, shrimp, plus many varieties of lettuce, all fresh and crisp, are his ingredients. . . . Redwood City's Oyster Shell, known for its outstanding seafood, now offers a wide selection of fine Italian dishes. A luncheon hit here is the Martini-Burger (lunch and a drink).

When entertaining out-of-town guests, the Franciscan restaurant is a Fisherman's Wharf show place affording every table a "ringside" view of in-coming and out-going vessels. The menu is highlighted by a variety of epicurean seafood dishes, as well as excellent salads and meat selection. George Skaff and his son tend to the maitre'd duties. . . . "Zali" Rae Abraham, a talented artist who has won high honors in top ranking art shows and competitions, has many of her Modern Primitive paintings on display in the lobby of the Benjamin Franklin Hotel. Each canvas tells the story of its particular title. The one-man show will continue through December. . . . Mike Chu, co-owner of the new Mandarin House in San Carlos, is also an accomplished interior decorator. Besides designing his own dining establishment, he has helped to create several of the most elegant Oriental restaurants in the Bay Area. . . . Dick Hoffman, executive chef at the Blue Peacock, has been in the restaurant business for 31 years. He obviously believes in the personal touch, as he arranges all the many banquets booked at this Millbrae fourth quarter of the Stanford-UCLA game, as owner Frank Fabbro restaurant. . . . At Fabbro's last Saturday, it was late in the fourth quarter of the Stanford-UCLA game, as owner Frank Fabbro and most of his patrons were gathered around the bar listening to the game. When Horowitz booted the three points home with just 5:01 to play, you should have seen Frank's smile and heard the resulting roar from his guests. . . .

Following the wedding ceremony of a young Filipino couple, a gala reception was held at Fred and Jerry Rapp's Holiday Inn, South San Francisco. The crowd was so overflowing that Food and Beverage Manager Claude Schroeder was forced to use four of the Inn's banquet rooms to handle the festive throng. . . . A fine selection of domestic and imported wines is available when dining at Wilfried Blarer's Matterhorn Swiss restaurant on Burlingame's Broadway. The wine is stored in a large rack in the dining area, if you're interested in scanning the labels. . . . Soup, served family-style, green salad bowl, ice cream, sherbet, Shadows Pudding with Winefoam Sauce, and coffee is all part of the Continental dinners served at The Shadows of San Mateo. Entenbraten mit Kirschen Sauce (roast stuffed duck, cherry sauce) and Sauerbraten, Kartoffel Pfannkuchen (pickled beef roast with potato pancakes) gives you an idea of the entree selection. Prefer a New York Cut Sirloin Steak? They have that, too. . . . The Leaning Tower's Joe Ercoli reminds Bright Lights' readers that his restaurant will be open for dining on Thanksgiving Day and suggests early reservation if you're planning a Holiday party, consider the two very accommodating banquet rooms, including a private bar, afforded here.

Joining them in a night of Nashville sounds are singers Johnny Duncan and Mary Taylor. . . . Held over by popular demand at the San Francisco Playboy Club, comedian Tom Melody will continue to bring his fresh style of comedy to audiences in the Playroom through November 7. Appearing with the Shakespearean actor turned comedian is vocalist Odia Coates. Backing the show is the Al Plank Trio. . . . Where does Manager Dave Rollo find those gorgeous waitresses for the cocktail lounge at Stuart Anderson's Black Angus Steak House?

City Editor, The Post

NO MATTER what the north county community, one will find a segment of it wholeheartedly supportive of a Damien House drop-in center for young people or steadfastly against it.

Citizens fought it in Daly City and Broadmoor, and also some battled for it, and a niche was found at the North County Mental Health offices.

South San Francisco's council has green-lighted Damien House, and only time will tell whether or not that body's decision will prove one of wisdom, foolishness or of no consequence whatsoever.

But it has bred some sterling conversation pieces, nonetheless.

Take this letter to the S.S.F. council: "It makes me sick that a small group of people from other parts of South San Francisco can shove in a place like the Damien House in one neighborhood. It won't affect their children, hurt their property and their businesses. So what do they care?"

"We shouldn't forget that the residents on Linden and surrounding streets are the real South San Franciscans. They made this city and we owe them something — but not the Damien House."

EVERYONE looked for gigantic Halloween problems in Pacifica . . . and they didn't materialize, which was good news for a change and that's good to report!

LE PACINI, our sports columnist, serves notice that his works might get shorter. At least until the 49ers start losing again. And everybody knows that's any Sunday now, Le, so don't go away.

SAM GOLDMAN, self-billed as the "Wildest PR man in the world," now the chief scamp in Skyline College's Puffery Room, calls to say he thought the college's administrative people did a goooooo job in handling the upside-down-flag caper last week.

It was handled in a most democratic fashion he points out. The student leadership was given every opportunity, Goldman said, to handle the situation. When the students failed, the administration — having the final decision and responsibility for action — stepped in and issued its directive.

The flag was not only righted, but disappeared, within 5½ hours after the administrative ultimatum, Sam said, proudly pointed to the rapid administration action.

BACK TO THE JEFF ELEMENTARY thing, Dr. Vin Stratton sees "time" as the most sensitive aspect of the whole budgetary problem. If, by chance, some teachers or admin folks must be axed, it must be done by March. And "Vin" doesn't think that's an awfully lot of time with such a complex matter.

By the way, some observers see the latest "poor mouth" cry from the district as the first phase by Supt. Greenwood in working toward tax rate boost approval by the sympathetic voters.

Who knows?

DALY CITY'S MAYOR, Bernard (Bud) Lycett has proclaimed November 8 as "The Danny Thomas Teen-agers March Day" in Daly City.

"I urge all citizens, schools, churches, business establishments, and scientific, social, civic and fraternal organizations to give this drive their support and cooperation," the Mayor resolved, noting, too, that "St. Jude Children's Research Hospital, Memphis, Tenn., founded by Danny Thomas, is the only children's research center in America doing basic and clinical research in these catastrophic diseases (childhood cancer, leukemia, muscle disorders) . . ."

FOR THE RESIDENT concerned about garbage (our best followers?), the North County League of Women Voters has scheduled a series of three workshops on alternate Tuesday afternoons, starting November 10.

The local program chairman, Mrs. Bill Humphrey of Pacifica, points out that "resource people will report on the present situation and future problems" of garbage-refuse dump locations.

Meetings will be held at the Fairmont Center in Pacifica, with the second covering "specific courses of action" the average citizen can take.

WE'RE HEARING a few cluck-clucks about Jeff Elementary District's teachers, staff and administrators getting pay boosts and then Supt. Frank Greenwood dropping the bomb: no money, where do we start curtailing programs and personnel?

Frank LaPierre's column will be resumed next week.

'The Children Are So Affectionate'

Following her mother's advice Diane Sauerhoff of South San Francisco, a Trans World Airlines stewardess spent the summer teaching in Nepal.

Miss Sauerhoff stopped flying for three months and headed for Kathmandu, Nepal, to teach English to young children as a volunteer for the Thomas A. Dooley Foundation.

Working in conjunction with a Nepalese faculty member, Diane instructed second through fifth graders at Balmandir Primary School. Two-thirds of her students were orphans, residents of an orphanage near the school.

"Learning English is important for Nepalese children, and especially for the orphans," Diane explained, "because it will help them find good jobs later. English has become a second language for many in Kathmandu."

"The children are so affectionate," she continued. "They brought me flowers. Gardenias grow wild there and I wore them in my hair every day. My relationship with the children was more than that of a teacher. In fact, I think the personal relationships were the most important aspect of my work."

Working with people has always been central in Diane's life. She received her BA in psychology from the University of New Mexico, then became a resident adviser with the Woman's Job Corps in Albuquerque. She studied at the University of Utah's Graduate School of Social Work and became a state adoption worker in Albuquerque. Because of her interest in combining religion and social work, she entered San Francisco Theological Seminary where her field work was devoted to a home for runaway teen-agers. Experiencing a "sudden urge to fly," Diane's next step was skyward with TWA. Her stewardess status permitted her to apply for volunteer work through the Dooley Foundation's stewardess program.

Naturally, Diane encountered a few problems, and some of them were pretty basic. The fourth grade class was literally in the dark, without light enough to learn by. So Diane bought a light bulb, although, she says, "the back of the room is still too dark."

In Kathmandu, Diane lived in the Dooley house, along with five other stewardesses, a nurse and an administrator. Kathmandu, she reports, "is the most exotic place I've ever been to. The temples with their gold ornaments are so beautiful, it's amazing."

"The most exciting thing though," she laughs, "was riding my bicycle through the streets of Kathmandu. There they ride on the left-handed side and park in the middle. Taxicabs, which are tiger-striped, let you out in the middle of the street. One day I almost ran into an elephant which in turn almost wiped out a taxicab. And right behind a policeman's horse almost ran into me!"

"No shade, no shine, no butterflies, no bees, no fruits, no flowers, no leaves, no birds — November." What do you do in November? Give yourself a hobby! Try browsing about in junk sheds and antiques shops — there are 65 listed in the San Mateo phone books and over 200 in San Francisco. Such an activity writes John Bedford is "a gratifying personal pleasure."

For your guidance, Bedford has written two widely read books, "Looking In Junk Shops" and "More Looking In Junk Shops." Both are "how-to-do-it" books concerned with the knack of collecting such strange items as bottle gardens, barometers, and rolling pins as well as the usual items that people collect.

If collecting is not your cup of tea perhaps you would enjoy animal and pet photography. It is a hobby that gave Mildred Stagg "an emotion of pleasure," and can be turned into profit through competing for prizes in animal photo contests. The techniques of photographing animals are explained in a small book by Miss Stagg. It has twelve chapters that contain step by step instructions and discuss the equipment necessary for "competent technique and deepest pleasure."

PAINTING WITH CRAYONS is a hobby that provides hours upon hours of pleasure and is, furthermore, inexpensive always accessible, colorful and messless. "Most people," says Professor Chester Alkema, "fail to realize the versatility of crayon painting as a hobby."

He should know having taught art to children in the primary grades as well as to graduate students in Michigan State University. His book of many illustrations, "The Complete Crayon Book," is a guide to crayon painting that will be useful to adults and children, to teachers and recreational leaders as well as the guy who likes to doodle.

Those Who Didn't Vote

JAMES HALLEY

Post-Times Columnist

This column will appear in different papers both immediately before and immediately following election day. I hope those reading it before the election will be encouraged to vote, and that those reading it after election time will find it helpful in considering some of the close races in Tuesday's election.

Appreciation of the significance of voter turnout came to me in an unpleasant way almost 20 years ago. In 1953 my father lost a city wide election in San Francisco by 103 votes. Ever since that time I have been stopped in the city streets by people saying that they would have voted that day "if they had only known." Now some might have said this and not have voted for him at all. But most were real enough and numerous enough to have made the difference several times over.

The lesson was plain. Elections are not only determined by those who vote but also by those who do not.

The rhetoric of American politics is impressive. It is a poor politician indeed who does not often allude to the strength of the people and the freedom of our elections. But participatory democracy fails to meet the ideal. Americans often fail to register, and of those who register many fail to vote. We are well down the list of voter participation among the world's democracies.

In 1968 15 per cent of eligible Californians failed to vote on election day. This meant that a million and a quarter registered voters were too busy, too lazy or too preoccupied to actually cast a ballot. When one recalls that the difference between Nixon-Agnew and Humphrey-Muskie was only a quarter of a million votes, the importance of voter disinterest can be fully understood.

Consider more figures. In that 1968 election over 700,000 Democrats failed to exercise their franchise.

In 1966, Controller Hugh Flournoy defeated Alan Cranston by 61,375 votes. Over a million Democrats failed to vote that year. In 1964, Winfield Shoemaker, Democratic Assemblyman in the Santa Barbara area, defeated the Republican incumbent by 960 votes. Almost 7000 Republicans failed to vote in that election.

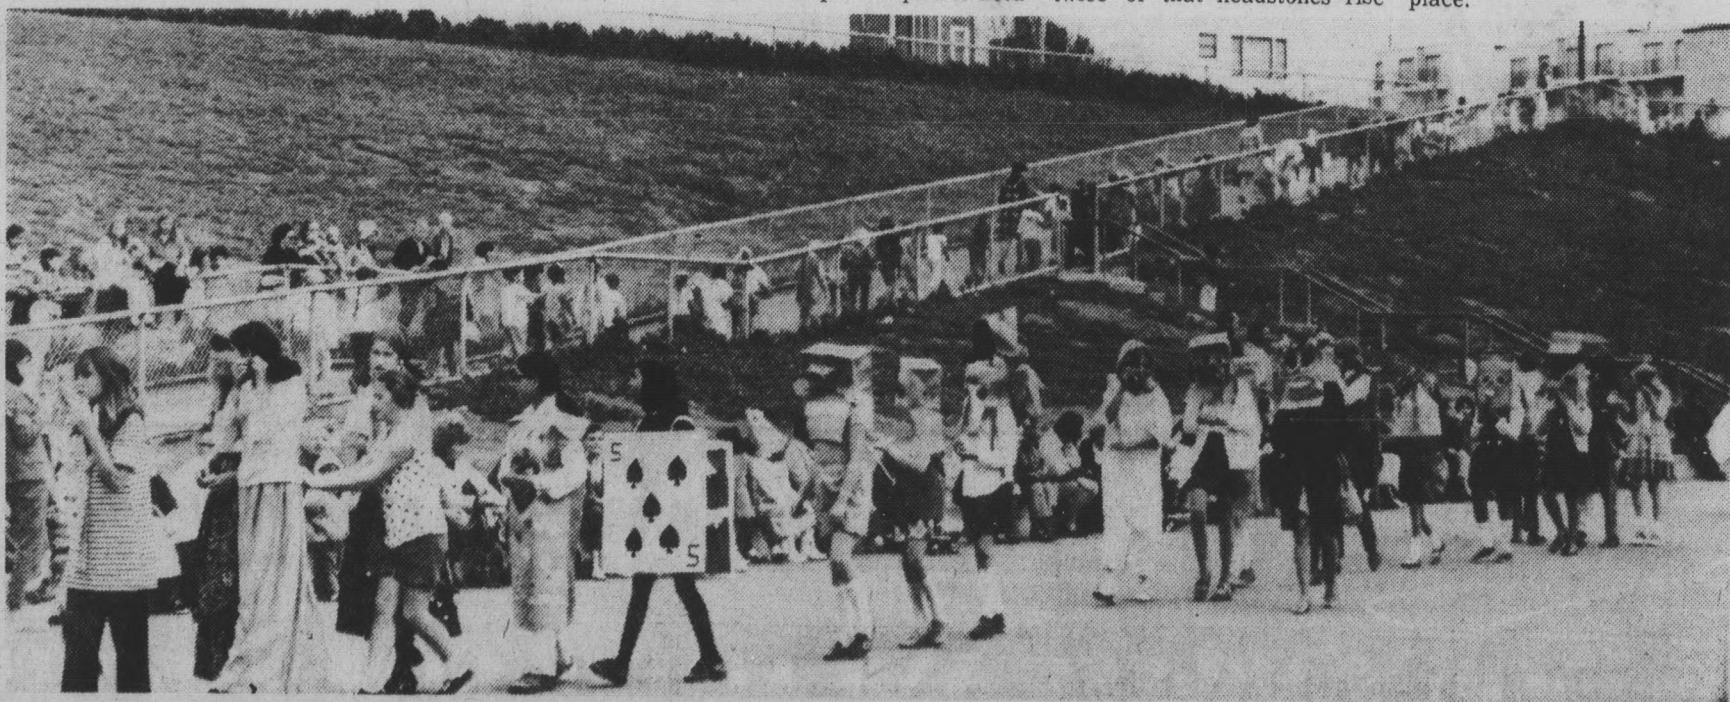

In 1962, Stewart Hinkley, Republican Assemblyman from Southern California, was elected by a 500 vote margin. Over 14,000 Democrats failed to vote. Examples abound showing that the people who don't vote at all are as important in close elections as the people who do. The result is that well organized political parties administer the vote. This doesn't mean that the little old ladies vote twice or that headstones rise on election day. It does mean that on some organized basis, voters are reminded of their obligation and individually encouraged to cast their ballots.

Systems to get out the vote have become more and more complex as time has passed. Today, both major political parties contact voters through highly sophisticated organizational techniques. Contact is made by phone, at the door, by letter, or other means. A competently managed get-out-the-vote drive can make the difference in close elections. The pollsters can verify this, for their predictions are occasionally undone by differences in turnout ratios.

But election day techniques will always remain an inexact art. Because of the sanctity of the ballot, the voter remains king. He can be bombarded with leaflets, deluged with radio and TV dreadfuls, immersed in phone calls and scolded (as in this column) for his lack of interest.

Come election, however, he can seek the beautiful and lonely bliss of the polling place.

LE PACINI

Sportscripts

Mass media football experts continue to amaze us. Take the local "telecaster," for example, who recently commented, after a big game by Green Bay's Donny Anderson, that he had finally "come through" after years of unfulfilled promise.

Anderson has in his eyes, in other words, been a failure, hadn't lived up to his two All-American years at Texas when his name was on the lips of every Southwest flank and gullible mass media "expert" in the country.

As the number one 1965 draft choice and recipient of a multi-hundred thousand dollar contract from what was then the greatest team in pro football, the media experts evidently expected Anderson to break for a long touchdown run every time he laid his hands on the ball, to kick the ball out of the stadium every time he punted.

What the media experts forgot was that it is a big step from the college ranks to the pros, especially when a hot-shot must break in with a team like Green Bay playing the same position as a guy named Paul Hornung. Anderson didn't become a regular until his third year (when he made the Pro Bowl), was used less in '69, and has now, apparently, become an old pro in '70.

BUT HOW COULD ANY REAL FOOTBALL expert, especially one who carries the title of Sports Editor of a large television station, consider him a failure until this year? Consider the following statistics (which don't include his accomplishments this season). As a college runner Anderson averaged 4.3 yards per carry; as a pro it's been 4.1. As a receiver, he averaged 12.8 yards gained per reception in college, has averaged 16.0 as a pro. At Texas he averaged 23.4 yards and 10.8 per kickoff and punt return, respectively. As a pro it's been 22.3 and 14.8. His average punt in college ranks carried 28.4 yards, as a pro, 39.2.

So, in fact, Anderson — when he's been allowed to play — has accrued, on the whole, flashier stats as a pro than as a collegian.

O. J. Simpson, last year, was the victim of the same kind of sloppy "expert" thinking. As a collegian he had broken national rushing records, been a two-time All-American, a Heisman Trophy winner, leader of a national championship, Rose Bowl winning team. He had, in short, been truly sensational.

But, the "experts" decreed, he had been a flop in his first year in the pros; was perhaps, a flash-in-the-pan.

But examine what Simpson did last year with the Buffalo Bills. He finished sixth in the AFL in rushing with 697 yards for a 3.9 average. He caught 30 passes for an average of 11.4 per reception. (At USC, it took him two work-horse seasons to catch 28 for an 8.4 average.) He was fifth in kickoff returns for an average of 25.2 (in college his average was 23.6). And he did all of this with a lousy team, not a supporting champ.

Hell, even to make first string as a rookie in pro ball is an accomplishment, yet we had these media "experts" calling Simpson a great disappointment for being one of the AFL's better offensive players while cavorting for a weak team!

SO SIMPSON DIDN'T AVERAGE five yards a carry as he had in the collegiate ranks. So he averaged "only" 3.9. We don't think there's a pro coach who would turn out to pasture a running back who could guarantee close to four yards a carry, two or three receptions a game for moderate gains and 25 yards per kickoff return — or at owner who wouldn't give such a "guarantee" $100,000 a year to do it.

Successful pro teams, the really solid ones in any sport, are not built on the one or two or even five year sensations, but the good, quality steady guys, the ones on whom a coach can depend to almost always give a creditable if unspectacular performance.

No owner in the world expects every big bonus baby to turn out a sensation. Most owners would be satisfied if even half of their bonus expenditures turned out to be good, journeymen pros. Perhaps once in a generation they come up with the truly great player, but he is not to be expected nor counted upon. He is frosting on the cake, a whipped cream topping on a solid, sturdy slab of nutritious oatmeal.

Many owners would in fact, we'd venture to guess, be willing to pay a half-million dollar bonus and $50,000 a year to each roster player if it were guaranteed that every one of them would do his job merely capably every game for 5-10 years. It would be worth it. The owners would get their money back and much more with the string of championships they'd produce.

Pro teams don't gamble for the sensations, but merely for the steady guys, the winners.

WE FINALLY GOT AROUND TO seeing that computerized fight between Cassius Clay and Rocky Marciano; and much as we hate to admit it, we think the infernal machine did a damned accurate job on the way such a fight would have actually gone.

As readers of this column know, we hate computers and love Rocky Marciano. Whenever thought one would do justice to the other, but it happened.

Marciano was being outpointed, cut and smashed for most of the fight, but never stopped his relentless shuffle forward nor his damaging body blows. As we feel would have happened in real life, he wore Clay down physically, psychologically and emotionally. When you keep hitting a guy with your best shots and seemingly rip him to pieces and he keeps coming at you fresh like a prelim boy in the first round, like he never felt a thing, you just eventually have to succumb, which is what Clay did, according to the computer.

In short, as he handled all opponents, Marciano just out-toughed Clay. The only way Clay had the Rock beaten was in the acting department. His knockdowns and "stag-gerings" were much more realistic than Marciano's He'd make a good movie stunt man for western bar room brawls.

But Clay lost, as we feel he would have in real life. Not because he wasn't a better fighter than Marciano, but simply because Marciano would not allow himself to be beaten.

As we said several months ago, the only guy who ever beat Marciano was a careless airplane pilot.

MISCELLANEY: How times have changed. Of the 55 men listed on the USC football roster, 29 are business majors, only four are physical education majors. Remember back in the slush-fund '50's, when almost all the Trojans were P-E majors — if, indeed, they had majors at all — and probably most of them thought business majors were soldiers with oak leaf clusters on their shoulders who kept books?

Stanford, incidentally — as usual — has not one physical education major on its roster, and times don't change so much, after all.

Grant Cvitanich, the former Westmoor marvel, is now 6-4, weighs 250, and at his post of defensive tackle is one of the very few bright spots for the thus-far winless San Francisco State Gators this year.

If little known facts turn you on, how about this one: Jim Fregosi — that's right, the California Angel star short-stop — still holds the West Catholic Athletic League long jump record from when he sailed 23-8 in 1959 for Serra High.

Possibly the most amazing and least known individual statistic of the now technically defunct American Football League belongs to recently retired Jack Kemp, who stood second in the league in all-time career touchdowns scored by rushing with 40 (in 10 seasons). In case you've forgotten, Kemp was a quarterback, and those guys aren't supposed to run. Considering that he played little last year and didn't score a TD — meaning he averaged better than four a season when he played regularly — and that he was beat out only by the great AFL running back Abner Hayes (46), and beat out such great backs as Paul Lowe (39) you might think that Kemp would have had a great reputation as a runner. But he didn't. Sometimes you just can't figure the flaks and the experts.

Regents Edge T.N.; Jeff Loses

By JERRY LITTRELL
(Post Correspondent)

There's not much sense calling at Friday's Terra Nova-Serramonte game a team effort on any side — there were too many super individual performances on both sides.

The Regents, newest North Peninsula League entry, won their first-ever conference game, 26-24, to highlight day time NPL action. Other final scores saw South San Francisco power its way by Half Moon Bay, 52-0, while Oceana edged Jefferson, 6-0.

Winner and loser had great moments in the Regent victory. For example, Terra Nova's Bud Papadakis caught two touchdowns and ran back an interception for a third td while quarterback John Racanelli, just a junior, hit on nine of 10 attempts for 200 yards.

But under pressure it was halfback Mark Elliott who responded for the Serramonte eleven. With the Tigers driving for a last quarter score with a 24-20 lead, Elliott intercepted a Tiger pass in his own end zone and raced 105 yards for the winning touchdown with just over four minutes left.

Elliott also added 94 rushing yards and another pass reception for 40 additional yards. Quarterback Ron Beltramo ran for two touchdowns and an extra point conversion to add his name to the hero's list.

Seven Warriors each scored a touchdown as it was share-the-wealth day down in Cougarville. South City kept its title hopes alive with the white-washing of HMB as junior quarterback Bob Bachtold directed a 294-yard SSF running attack.

Junior halfback Hank Love got the most important score by running over from the one in the first quarter. The rest was carnage.

NPL Grid Roundup

Oceana's Rick Summy broke up a scoreless duel in the third period with a five-yard run that gave Oceana its one-td victory over the Indians. Oceana had recovered a Jefferson fumble on the 24 and five plays later Summy tallied.

Jefferson's defense had completely stopped Oceana's passing game. Jeff, in losing, still managed a balanced attack but couldn't penetrate inside the 10-yard line.

Aragon Startles Cap—With Five First Downs

By CHRIS STAVE
(Post Correspondent)

Aragon managed only five first downs against Capuchino Friday afternoon at Hillsdale field, but five was just enough for a 14-8 upset victory.

Hal Huffman's Dons scored once early and once late, and except for the first seven minutes immobilized the high-powered Mustang offense.

Cap took the opening kickoff and drove 84 yards in 17 plays, capped by Barry Visen's five-yard run. Visen ran again for the two-point conversion. At that point it looked like the Dons might as well pack it in for another season.

But then Huffman's young charges started playing skilled hardnose defense, forcing Cap's Jeff Callicotte to fumble after a pass reception at the Mustang 40.

The Dons' Dave Matisi passed once for a sixteen-yard loss, handed off for a one yard gain and it was third down, twenty-five yards to go. Then Matisi passed for one of the five first downs — a bomb to Mike Jordan that went for 55 yards and a score. Cap led 8-6 at halftime.

A funny thing happened in the second half. The Dons kept Capuchino from putting any kind of drive together. Mustang Dons had been moving, that

quarterback Keith Hernandez

one of the Mid-Peninsula League's sharpest passers, was intercepted twice and dropped behind the line five times for a total of 38 yards lost.

The Dons' only trouble was that they couldn't move the ball either.

Just before the end of the third quarter, Hernandez suffered his third interception, giving Aragon the ball on the Mustang 35. Of course, the way the Dons had been moving, that was a long way off.

Then came another of those five first downs, a 15-yard flip from Matisi to fullback Mark Chorpining. Two plays later Matisi bootlegged around left end for the go-ahead score (and another first down). Matisi converted on a keeper, making it 14-8.

Hernandez tried twice to pass the Mustangs clear but an aroused Don defense stopped both drives cold.

Oh, yes: the last Aragon first down. Chorpining got that one on a one-yard run with 1:12 left in the game, allowing the Dons to run the clock down to a point where Cap had little chance to retaliate.

This was Matisi's most composed game. Huffman said afterwards, "He and Chorpining both did a good job."

"This is a real young team and the kids have been making a lot of mistakes. Last week against Crestmoor the backs must have made at least five mistakes a piece. Today if wasn't head and it showed. We're going to have a pretty good football team when they all get squared away."

"We had Cap pretty well defended after that first drive. We always seem to do a pretty good of drive together. Mustang Dons had been moving, that job on Cap defensively."

Falcon Victory Not an Upset

By PETE BARSOCCINI
(Post Correspondent)

Although many people will be quick to label it as such, the Crestmoor Falcon's 22-16 triumph over the Burlingame Panthers Friday afternoon was no upset.

The Falcons opened their practice season with a resounding win over Terra Nova but they lost three key players in that game on injuries. Gradually Crestmoor reconstructed its squad into the solid unit which beat Aragon last week and then convincingly dumped Burlingame yesterday on the winner's field.

Last week's win marked the first time in Crestmoor's eight year history that it has won two contests in a row, much less two MPL contests. The game against Burlingame was also a Falcon first as it was their first home game played on their own field.

It was an occasion of no small moment for the Falcon fans and for first year coach John Brown.

"What do you say after a win like this?" questioned coach Brown after the game while shaking innumerable hands. "We played well, but Burlingame didn't quite," he added.

Crestmoor took a commanding 14-0 lead at the half as they scored twice in the second quarter. The first tally came on a two yard run by Steve Tomei after a five-play drive. The second score came with less than two minutes left in the half when Jim Jarvis hit George Ama in the end zone with an 1 yard toss.

The Panthers came back strongly in the second half, but their effort was concentrated in the fourth quarter. Burlingame attained their first tally early in the final period when quarterback Steve Kircher connected with Brett Johnson for a 67 yard pass play. The Falcons retaliated with a crucial touchdown moments after the Panther score when AB Jarvis hit Steve Roller on a crossover pattern to give Crestmoor the winning margin.

Burlingame's final score came with 2:20 left in the game when Kircher tossed his second scoring pass to Brett Johnson climaxing a three play drive.

The Panther TD came too late as the Falcons moved to a 2-1 record in MPL play. That's something new, to be sure.

Padres Suffer Fourth Defeat

By JOHN HORGAN

There were just 17 seconds left to play in Saturday's West Catholic Athletic League football game between Riordan and Serra.

Crusader quarterback Dan Hayes implored his coach, Bob Toledo, to let him run "19 Sweep," a play in which the quarterback carries the ball.

The answer was a firm No.

"There was no way I was going to let him run that play," Toledo, himself a former quarterback during his playing days, mused after the Crusaders' 20-7 victory.

"I don't want him running on the last play of the game."

Who could blame him? Hayes, a senior and the leading passer in Northern California this year, is well on his way to a 2,000-yard season. An injury with one game remaining on the school's schedule would be unthinkable.

But Serra's Jesse Freitas had another reason to be thankful that Toledo had put his foot down: "He probably would have scored."

That's pretty much the way it went all day down on the hot San Mateo High School turf.

Hayes, though experiencing what his coach called "a poor effort," did complete 11 out of 25 attempts for 205 yards and two touchdowns. The victory also upped the San Francisco school's record to 6-1 overall and 3-1-1 in league play.

Serra is 3-4 and 1-3.

For the season, Hayes is 106 of 203 for 1,783 yards and 17 touchdowns. He also does the Crusader punting and kicks extra points. As Freitas put it later, "That kid is one helluva thrower."

Hayes guided the City club to two touchdowns in the second period on a three-yard run by Mike Barbero and a 56-yard pass and run play from Hayes to Joe O'Sullivan. Hayes got a third TD in the fourth period on a nine-yard pass to Dan Ferrigno.

That last catch was Ferrigno's only grab of the day. For the season he has caught 35 passes for 701 yards and ten tallies. Serra double-covered the little flanker all afternoon and never really gave him much chance to display his skills one-on-one.

Serra, which next duels Sacred Heart in San Francisco this coming Saturday, scored its lone touchdown on the fourth play of the last quarter on an 18-yard pass from Jerry Mangini to Leroy Alexander.

However, Hayes immediately took Riordan on an 11-play, 94-yard march for a final TD to ice the victory.

Serra's Pete Jordan tallied 123 yards on 27 carries.

But it wasn't nearly enough.

The 'Best Defense a Good Offense'? El Camino Will Laugh in Your Face!

By JERRY LITTELL

(Post Correspondent)

Don't ever tell the El Camino Colts that the best defense is a good offense — they've got 11 guys that'll laugh in your face.

After 43 minutes of hitting that would set a seismograph on end, El Camino High School remained alone atop the North Peninsula League standings with an 8-3 victory over Westmoor's Rams Friday on Clifford Field. The loss ended, in all probability, the Rams' hopes for defending their conference championship.

Heavenly days, Magee, did both teams hit! So rugged was the defense on both sides that neither team was able to gain 100 yards total offense. But the contest was far from dull. Very far.

What it did produce was something akin to a superhuman effort from the Camino defense — lads named Gary Dellamaggiore, Kevin Hornick, Jeff Longoria, Jeff Lamkin, Mike Knowles and Bob Bowles. Especially Dellamaggiore. For it was his jarring tackle of Ram quarterback Mike Swallow early in the game that probably meant the difference in the outcome.

Swallow tried to run around right end but Dellamaggiore met him head-on with such force that it knocked Swallow's helmet and very nearly his head) right off and sent him spinning to the sidelines for the rest of the year with an apparent shoulder separation.

From then on it was downhill for Westmoor. The Rams tried everything including the shotgun formation with an end playing quarterback, a system they had never practiced or even thought about until Swallow was injured. Nothing worked right the rest of the night save kicker Hugo Olazar's soccer-style delivery.

Olazar gave Westmoor a brief 3-0 lead in the second period with a 32-yard field goal. Westmoor had apparently scored earlier when a Camino punt was run back 68 yards by Bob McLennan but Westmoor had 12 men on the field and the score was nullified.

Westmoor's defense scored the winning touchdown in the third quarter when defensive end Steve Wilkes intercepted a floating pass on the 14 and ran in with no trouble for the night's only touchdown. Then Camino's new wrinkle, a shotgun formation on the PAT try, was successful as quarterback Dale Momil found halfback Al Spitzer for the two-point.

Spitzer was a workhorse running sweeps right and left on 22 occasions. He and fullback Steve Olney ball-controlled the game on offense and the stubborn defensive unit handled the rest of the chore.

"I'm damn proud of these kids," coach Tom McCormick quietly said after the game. "When it comes to knocking heads one-on-one we'll stand up to anyone — no matter how big. We proved that in this game."

Dellamaggiore, in addition to his constant harassment in the Ram backfield, also caused and recovered a fumble.

Oceana Wins NPL Cross Country Meet

With Ernie Ribera leading the way, the Oceana High School cross-country team dominated the action in the Northern Peninsula League Wednesday.

The Sharks increased their NPL record to a perfect 5-0 with triangular meet victories over South San Francisco and Serramonte High Schools.

Ribera ripped up the existing standard of South SF's 2.1-mile course with a 10:47.0 clocking. The Sharks outscored the Warriors, 25-32, and downed Serramonte, 15-45.

In the other part of the meet, the Warriors took a 17-39 decision from the young Regents.

Meanwhile, in the Mid Peninsula League Burlingame was taking a default victory over Aragon. The Dons were forced to default the meet when not enough runners showed up for the run.

Despite all of the trouble, Aragon's Tim Sheehan still paced all runners with a new course record time of 15:17.5.

Schweitzer Bulldog of the Week

College of San Mateo guard Ed Schweitzer and "stinger" Mark Bagileo earned respective "Bulldog of the Week" and "best hitter" honors for the City College of San Francisco clash.

Schweitzer is a 6-0, 195 pound sophomore from Oceana High and Pacifica while Bagileo is a 5-11, 183 pound frosh from Mills High and Millbrae.

Schweitzer started the season as an offensive tackle but successfully made the switch to the defensive line after the Bulldogs' league opener against Diablo Valley. "He was a fine football player to begin with," noted CSM coach Bill Dickey.

"Now he has really come of age as a defensive guard and I consider him an all-league candidate."

Against CCSF the Matean veteran made seven unassisted tackles and assisted on three more, twice downing the Ram quarterback. "He put a tremendous amount of pressure on their quarterback all day," Dickey pointed out.

Bagileo was recognized for his "solid game" at stinger, which is a deep linebacker spot on defensive coach Steve Shafer's alignment.

Schweitzer joined veteran teammates Randy O'Brien (ex-Carlmont) and Tom Scott (Serra) as CSM's tri-captains at last Saturday afternoon's Golden Gate Conference showdown with unbeaten Chabot at the Matean field. The game ended in a 21-21 tie.

CSM takes to the road for its final two engagements at San Jose CC Friday night and at Merritt, Nov. 14.

As Second Star Roz Tried Harder

A vivacious, almost girlish Rosalind Russell regaled a capacity audience at the Palace of Fine arts auditorium Saturday where the tribute to her versatile and glamorous career brought the long legged star obvious delight.

One of seven children of a successful Waterbury, Conn. family, Roz admitted that her family "still thinks I'll outgrow the stage and come back home," implying that a stage and film career didn't fit in with their image of what a dutiful daughter should do with her life.

"Father was a lawyer who wrote in his will that we all could draw off the estate as long as we continued to educate ourselves. Or else go to work. I chose the latter, but have a sister who has been taking classes for 35 years. Last time I visited her she was taking smiling lessons."

And although Roz didn't like the idea of working, she had been trained for a teaching job and combined that with a natural flair for histrionics and got her mother's approval to apply at the American Academy of Dramatic Arts in New York. She was on the Broadway stage immediately after graduation.

Since then, she's successfully moved between stage and films, changing her image many times to avoid being stereotyped. The one niche she never cracked was that of sex symbol.

"I played second parts in films for years. Never got the man. Was veddy, veddy British. I saw how Jean Harlow and Marilyn Monroe suffered from being sex symbols and was later happy that I didn't have that to overcome. On the other hand, I'm not so bad myself. Whenever Myrna Loy would ask for a raise or a vacation they'd say O.K. We'll get Rosalind Russell to do the part, to keep her in line."

Film clips from her early career (she was only 24 years old when she made a name for herself as "Craig's Wife") showed her transition from a proud, haughty, fashion plate "Evelyn Prentice" with William Powell and Una Merkel and "China Seas" with Clark Gable and Jean Harlow to "Craig's Wife" with John Boles, and into more serious roles with "Night Must Fall" (remember the mysterious hat box that belonged to Robert Montgomery.)

HER STRUGGLE TO prove herself a comedienne following arguments with producer Hunt Stromberg (who claimed she was too beautiful) and director George Cukor who wanted Ika Chase to repeat her stage role in "The Woman" finally paid off after numerous tests.

"I'd insisted on 1000 feet of film for my test and tried it out three different ways. After I got the part, I begged Cukor not to make me do it the zany way I'd done in the test because I thought the critics would murder me. He said, 'You may be recognized in the lobby of the Plaza Theatre in New York, but they've never heard of you in Waukegan. Anyway it was the turning point of my career and I was given that great role opposite Cary Grant in 'His Girl Friday' that was a remake of 'Front Page' with the reporter changed to a woman."

The scene from "The Women" between Miss Russell and Joan Crawford in the bathroom is an all time classic. As is the hair pulling, clothes ripping, name calling fracas between her and Paulette Goddard, with Norma Shearer, Joan Fontaine, and Marjorie Main looking on.

FRANKLY, I NEVER took her seriously as an actress until "Majority of One" when as an elderly Jewish widow she falls in love with a Japanese Alec Guinness. But "My Sister Eileen" where she tries to lure a friendly Portuguese Navy contingent to conga out of her basement apartment was a preview of what was to come much later in "Auntie Mame" introducing her young nephew Patrick to a mad drunken party of theatrical New Yorkers.

Her final scene with Natalie Wood in "Gypsy" where she sings of a mother who got left behind once she'd driven her daughter to the pinnacle of a successful burlesque career prompted one fan to ask if she'd done her own singing in the film.

"Yes, I did. But people forget I'd done the musical "Wonderful Town" on Broadway. I don't have a great voice but I get by. Right now my husband (producer Freddie Brisson . . . their son Lance Brisson lives in S.F.) is preparing a musical for me on Aime Semple MacPherson."

She talked freely about herself, recounting stories of her days under the Harry Cohn-Louis B. Mayer aegis and admitting the one role she had wanted badly, but didn't get was "Lady in the Dark" which went to Gertrude Lawrence on the stage and Ginger Rogers on film.

NELL NORTON
Sugar 'n Spice

Good morning, good cooks.

Last week's weather was so delightful that it was difficult to stay indoors wasn't it?

Do you enjoy gardening? Usually I'm not much of a gardener, leaving that to the expert in the family, but I couldn't resist the call of the warm sunshine and light breezes. As a result, our garden looks like a disaster area. Plants have been pruned, clipped and transplanted, and they are drooping all over the place. How ungrateful of them! I feel all my horticultural talent was wasted on plants that didn't appreciate my tender mercies.

I admit I'm not much of a gardener, but in the kitchen to quote an old song, "You'd be surprised!" I have been busy in that more rewarding and familiar environment and as a result, have some new recipes to share with you good cooks.

This first recipe came from southern California — La Puente — and Mrs. Barbara Schaefer is the good cook who sent it to me.

OVEN STEW

1 1/2 pounds stew meat, cut into 1 1/2-inch cubes
1 medium onion, sliced
1 large stalk celery, cut in chunks
6 carrots, scraped and cut in large pieces
1 tablespoon sugar
Pepper to taste
1 1/2 teaspoons salt
2 tablespoons tapioca
2-thirds cup tomato juice
(Bake 250-degrees—4 hours.)

Using a baking dish about 7x11-inches, place the layer of stew meat, then the sliced onion, the chunks of celery and the cut up carrots. Sprinkle with the one tablespoon sugar, pepper to taste, one and one-half teaspoons salt and two tablespoons tapioca. Pour the two-thirds cup tomato juice over all. Cover tightly with foil and bake in 250-degree oven for 4 hours.

HOW ABOUT HEATING the oven a little earlier and baking this cake before you start the stew? It bakes in a 350-degree oven about 35 minutes. Then you can cool the oven to 250-degrees and put in the stew. You will have the entree and dessert finished in one fell swoop.

DATE CHOCOLATE CHIP CAKE

3/4 cup shortening
1 1/4 cups boiling water
1 cup chopped dates
1 1/2 cups sugar
2 eggs
1 teaspoon baking soda
1/2 teaspoon salt
2 cups all-purpose flour
2 rounded tablespoons cocoa
1 cup chocolate bits
1 cup sliced almonds

Pour the one and one-fourths cup boiling water over the cup chopped dates and let stand until cool. Cream the three-fourths cup shortening with one cup of the sugar (set aside the remaining half cup). Add the two eggs and beat well. Sift together the two cups flour, one teaspoon baking soda, half teaspoon salt and two tablespoons cocoa. Add to the creamed mixture alternately with the date mixture. Pour batter into a well greased, floured pan (13x9x2-inches). Combine the remaining half cup sugar with the cup each of chocolate bits and sliced almonds. Sprinkle over top of batter and bake in 350-degree oven 35 minutes or until done.

RECENTLY I HAD A BIRTHDAY celebration for a good neighbor and while everyone enjoyed the birthday cake, the hit of the evening was some new cookies I'd baked. They were so rich they literally melted in the mouth and the good cooks present asked for the recipe. Thanks to Mrs. Helen Finnerty of San Francisco who sent the recipe to share with all you good cooks.

POTATO CHIP COOKIES

1 pound margarine
1 1/4 cups sugar
2 teaspoons vanilla
3 1/2 cups flour
1 1/2 cups crushed potato chips

Blend the pound margarine, one and one-fourth cups sugar and two teaspoons vanilla. Cream very well. Next blend in the three and one-half cups flour and lastly work in the one and one-half cups crushed potato chips. The dough will be thick.

Drop by rounded teaspoonfuls onto ungreased cookie sheet. Bake in 350-degree oven 12 to 15 minutes. Remove from cookie sheet and sprinkle with powdered sugar. Makes 8 dozen.

Mr. and Mrs. Marcos Nevarez of Millbrae recently celebrated their silver wedding anniversary by renewing their marriage vows at St. Dunstan Church in that city. One hundred friends and relatives of the couple attended a reception which followed at the Redwood City home of Mr. and Mrs. Marcos Nevarez who hosted the affair with Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Vargas, also of Redwood City, and Mary Pato of Millbrae. Among guests were Mr. and Mrs. Valentin Sanchez of San Francisco who were best man and maid of honor when the couple was wed in Durango, Mexico on October 7, 1945.

Need for Pet Hospital Seen

By JOHN HORGAN
Veterinary medicine is really little different from any of the other professions.

It, too, is being altered substantially during this period of intense and rapid social change. That is the opinion of Dr. Bill Hand of Burlingame, president of the Peninsula Veterinarians' Association.

he coming in this area when an animal hospital of significant size will be built.

"I know this goes against the grain for most vets around here," he said, "but this is what the public needs."

"Our profession is undergoing a revolution. It parallels the revolution in human medicine."

He cited the rise in specialization, new and more sophisticated methods of diagnosis and increasing costs as primary factors in the changes which the veterinary medicine field is experiencing.

People in California, he noted, spend more than $1 billion a year on the four major pet foods. There are more than four million pets in the state and those are just the cats and dogs, he explained.

To take care of these millions of animals, there are only 3,700 vets in the entire state. There is only one school of veterinary medicine in California. It is located at the University of California at Davis. That school turns out about 80 graduates a year. Only 15 per cent of these go into private practice, Dr. Hand said. The other 85 per cent become researchers, meat inspectors, health specialists, etc.

The state has planned to open a second school of veterinary medicine at its new university campus in Irvine. "As you know," Dr. Hand continued, "that whole situation there has become embroiled in a big political ruckus and everything now is a bit shaky. Besides, the people voted down a proposal for the vet school at the last election. Really, the whole thing is up to the people. If they want more vets, they'll have to vote the necessary money for them."

To help vets-to-be in making their decision whether they ought to go into private practice, Dr. Hand and other young vets are backing a plan to have them spend an extra year as interns before their graduation.

"I think this will be the law within about five years," he said.

On the matter of a pet hospital, Dr. Hand said that such a facility has been a success in Boston for some time. A similar hospital was tried for a time in San Francisco but it failed, he said.

"Let's face it," Dr. Hand went on, "some people just can't afford proper care for their pets. There has to be a way for the indigent person to get help for his pet. Most vets do some work for free for some of their clients, but you have to draw a line somewhere."

Financing a pet hospital would be one of the critical problems to be faced by anyone interested in such a venture, he said.

Still, he predicted that San Mateo County would have a pet hospital within 10 years or so.

"I'm only 32," he said. "In my work I want to be happy, to be productive. What I'm working for is to come up with that big facility."

As president of the association (which encompasses all of San Mateo County and part of Santa Clara County), Dr. Hand said he has the chance to observe this situation first hand.

A major goal of the association and Dr. Hand is to make sure that veterinarians in private practice keep up their education and stay in touch with new trends, new findings and improved methods and procedures.

He said that, because of the strict controls applied by the state in the field of veterinary medicine, "Vets have a monopoly in this state. No one else can practice veterinary medicine here but us. This behooves us to continue our education. That's one reason I'm here in this county. It means I can practice better medicine because people here are more educated themselves and they expect more from us."

Burglaries in San Bruno

More than $100 in cash and numerous pieces of property were taken in five weekend burglaries in San Bruno. Entry on four of them was gained through a window.

Police said $30 in cash was taken from the home of Charles R. Hanley Jr., 481 Elm Avenue. Entrance was gained through a window.

Using a similar method of entrance, burglars took $135 in valuables from Randall L. Mealow, 130 Ross Way. Police said a screen was removed from the window. Taken was a shot gun, a .22 caliber pistol, hunting knife and a wrist watch. Lyle G. McDaniel of 710 Second Avenue, lost a $50 movie projector. The entrance also was through a window. Police said scene of the occurrence was 1209 Herman Street, where McDaniel, an ambulance driver, works.

Another $30 in cash and a wrist watch was reported taken from Frank J. Gagliardi of 288 Elm Avenue. Police said entrance was once again gained through a window. In addition to the money, the burglar took jewelry.

In the fifth reported burglary, the thieves entered a garage and took two car engines, one transmission, two wheels and a tool box. Police said the victim was James L. Juttner of 320 Poplar Avenue.

DON FRATE

Frate Named PR Director For Hapsmith

Don Frate has been named director of public relations for the Hapsmith Company, developers of the $20-million Tanforan Park Shopping Center.

Frate's appointment was announced by Hap Smith, general partner of the Beverly Hills-based development firm.

The 34 year old Castro Valley man has been Advertising and Promotion Director at Hap Smith's Fremont Hub Shopping Center for the past 2 1/2 years. He has been associated with the Tanforan project since the groundbreaking in July of '69.

Don's background includes a 16 year stint in the newspaper field, starting in the mechanical departments of the Oakland Tribune in 1952. He eventually moved into advertising and was general manager of the Fremont News Register prior to joining The Hapsmith organization.

Greenbelt Area Sought

Pending a title search a small piece of property between Millbrae and San Bruno will remain untouched.

The land, known as Millbrae Spur, has been offered to San Bruno by the state. The city's Park and Recreation commissioners recommended that the road be built through the property located at the west end of San Bruno Park. Instead the commissioners want a "greenbelt."

Both Councilmen Dick Griffith and Ted Long pressed for adoption of the commissioner's recommendation.

City Engineer Leo Van Dusen, however, said the matter is not that simple. He said title in the property is cloudy in that it suggests that unless the property is used for road purposes it will revert to private ownership.

Van Dusen also noted that he was of the opinion the area must be developed, and "not used just for people who want to walk or ride a bicycle."

The city engineer said there is a need for an access road to the back area of the park and that the county would be interested in a road there to serve the nearby county park.

Raytheon to Move to East Coast

A North County marine products firm, Raytheon, has confirmed that its move to Manchester, N.H., will be completed by the end of November.

Only yesterday some 120 workers at Ampex in Redwood City marched in protest of a transfer of some plant operations from the Peninsula to Albuquerque, N.M. and Colorado Springs, Colo.

Similar other plant moves are in the offing to low wage areas of the country it was reported.

J. C. Aldige, industrial relations manager of Raytheon's big South San Francisco complex, said a shift of the firm's personnel to New Hampshire already had begun.

Some 350 persons were employed in the South San Francisco operation, with about ten percent of them transferring to Manchester or other facilities of the Raytheon company, which employs over 50,000 workers throughout the country.

Aldige said the South San Francisco operation, which began in 1956 under another ownership, but assumed by Raytheon in 1958, is being consolidated at Manchester with another facility being moved from Connecticut.

The company's principal complex is in greater Boston.

Car Hits Wall, 2 Men Injured

A 41-year-old man suffered severe head injuries when his car smashed into a retaining wall on the Junipero Serra Freeway north of the Washington Street overpass in Colma Wednesday.

According to the California Highway Patrol Ronald Joseph Neher of 3201 Susan Drive, San Bruno, mumbled before he lapsed into unconsciousness at Mary's Help Hospital, "I'm confused . . . I think I was going to turn off or something . . . I saw lights coming right at me. Then we hit a wall or something."

A passenger in Neher's station wagon, Robert S. Marx, 55, of Las Vegas, who suffered less serious head injuries, also reported headlights coming directly at them.

Highway Patrolman T. E. Bickell and R. A. Kostareported witnesses did not see any other auto, however.

New Rabbi Arrives as Spiritual Leader at Colma Temple

Rabbi Erwin S. Ruch is the new spiritual leader for Congregation B'nai Israel, which serves the Daly City-Colma region.

Rabbi Ruch was ordained at the Jewish Theological Seminary in 1956 after his graduation from Yeshiva College and a stint in the U.S. Navy.

He has occupied pulpits in New York, and for 11 years has led two synagogues on the West Coast. He comes to Bnai Israel after having been rabbi for Valley Beth Israel in Sun Valley, Calif., for seven years, during which time the congregation more than doubled its membership.

Rabbi Ruch has held the position of vice president of the Rabbinical Assembly in the western area. He played a dynamic role in furthering every phase of the United Synagogue Youth activities and served as the Rabbinical Assembly Youth Commissioner for five years. He was elected chairman of the San Fernando Valley Council of Rabbis.

November 6, new members of Congregation B'nai Israel will be honored at New Member Sabbath. The congregation's Rabbi, Erwin S. Ruch, has instituted a new format for the Sabbath evening, with an Oneg Shabbat preceding services rather than following.

This is intended to furnish warmth and a camaraderie which will carry over into the service.

Conducting services, along with Rabbi Ruch, will be Cantor Julius Blackman.

To be honored are: Mr. and Mrs. G. Reznitz, Mr. and Mrs. H. Goldman, Mr. and Mrs. J. Siegel, Mr. and Mrs. R. Ruth-eiser, Mr. and Mrs. F. White and Mr. and Mrs. R. Sorkin all of Daly City, and Mr. and Mrs. J. Lebovitz and Mr. and Mrs. S. Kutner of San Bruno and Mr. and Mrs. S. Bayliss of Pacifica and Dr. and Mrs. H. Cohn of Millbrae.

The Oneg Shabbat will begin at 8:30 p.m. and interested members of the community are invited.

Model Is Chosen Queen at CSM

The last shall be first. Especially in the College of San Mateo's annual Homecoming Queen contest.

This year's winner, Beverly Coleman, 17, a slender brunette business major from San Mateo, was the last to enter the contest, declaring her candidacy on Tuesday.

The daughter of Mrs. Helen Coleman, 336 North Eldorado, Miss Coleman outpolled seven other candidates to take the crown. Students voted Tuesday through Thursday.

A June graduate of San Mateo High School, Miss Coleman is employed as a professional model during her spare time. She is active in CSM's Black Students Union, which sponsored her candidacy, and enjoys sports, particularly football and basketball.

Other CSM coeds who competed for the honor were Robin Prenovitz, 19, of Daly City; Jackie King, 19, of Belmont; Sandy Riach, 18, of Burlingame; Marty Marshall, 18, of Burlingame; Crispy Carlson, 18, of Redwood City; Lin Straub, 19, of San Mateo; and Barbara Samuelson, 19, of Daly City.

Miss Coleman was scheduled to receive her crown during half-time ceremonies last Saturday at CSM's Homecoming game against Chabot College in CSM Stadium.

Hillside Library Dedicated

Hillside School Library was dedicated during the recent "Back to School" night which was hosted by members of the P-TA. The meeting was called to order by President Mrs. Brent Sellick at the South San Francisco School.

The flag salute which opened the program was led by Cub Master Ben McLaughling and Cub Scouts of Troop 281. Principal Michael Miyahira introduced special guests present for the library dedication. They were District Superintendent Dr. and Mrs. Paul Nielsen, Associate Superintendent Joseph Smith, Dr. Clifton Boyack, Dr. Leonard Levine, Mrs. Lorraine Cooper, Leo Escerini, Leo Padreddi, Dorcas Rosenfeld, coordinator of libraries for South San Francisco Unified School District.

A special thanks and a bouquet of roses was presented to Mrs. Leo Garcia for her work in getting the new library ready for the dedication ceremony. Mrs. Garcia and Dr. Nielsen then cut the ribbon dedicating the library.

Principal Miyahira introduced the Hillside faculty, Mrs. Mary Cameron, secretary; Jay Harris, custodian; Frank McQueen was given recognition for securing and installing a new public address system presented to Hillside School by the P-TA.

Mrs. John Anderson was commended for her efforts to obtain the fence installed around the school yard. The second grade class was awarded the P-TA banner for the month for having the most parents present at the meeting.

A special announcement was made for all to remember November 10 when Hillside P-TA will sponsor a fund raising "Sew'n Show."

Refreshments were served in the all-purpose room by the hospitality chairman Mrs. Lee Towy, following classroom visitations.

Ox Dump May Open Jan. 1

The Ox Mountain regional dump east of Half Moon Bay may go into operation as early as next January 1.

This was the word given members of the county planning commission Wednesday by Leonard Theiss, natural resources planning coordinator for the county.

The commission renewed the dump's use permit and a grading permit for a year, subject to an agreement between operators of the dump, the San Mateo County Scavenger company, and the county on a fee schedule.

Paul F. Kelly, attorney for the scavenger company, registered his opposition to the proposal that a surcharge be charged to pay for supervision of dump operations by the county.

"This is a new and different contract, and we want the record to show we oppose it," Kelly said.

"We do not want to be told how to run our business, and we feel that it is what is in this agreement," the attorney asserted, adding he thought settlement could be reached amicably, however.

Theiss reported that some 50,000 cubic yards of earth have been moved already at the dump and some 14,000 feet of it taken from the site. He said an access road is almost completed and that drainage pipes have been installed.

Among the conditions in the use permit are the following:

That no garbage or earth hauling trucks may leave the dump between the commuter hours of 6:30 and 8 a.m. and 3:30 and 6 p.m.

Removal of quarry material be limited to that needed to cover the Marsh Road and Ox Mountain dumps.

That planting plans for slopes be submitted to County Planning Director Reino Liukkonen for approval.

Drugs

"Your Children Are In Contact With The Drug World-Are You?" will be the topic of a panel discussion for parents on Wednesday, November 4, at 3 p.m. at the Brotherhood Way Center, 655 Brotherhood Way, San Francisco.

The panel will consist of Edward Palmer, teacher at Washington High School, John Reedy, who is with the Mental Health Association and Miss Patty Brown, a high school senior.

Educator Warns Public: Money or Cutbacks

Frank Greenwood, Jefferson Elementary School District superintendent, is looking for community help in determining the shape of the district's future program.

The Daly City educator, in reviewing operational and service costs of elementary education in Daly City, said a two-year projection shows a deficit of more than $500,000 by 1971-72.

Greenwood stated bluntly: "The Jefferson Elementary School District cannot possibly continue its current level of expenditures and maintain the existing instructional programs, services and salary schedules."

He pointed out that either "the people of this community or the State of California must provide additional revenues to maintain current programs and offset the inflationary costs which have plagued this district for more than a decade."

Looking back, Greenwood noted that $497 a child was spent in the 1964-65 school term. This year the amount is expected to be $870 a child.

The district, he said, has reduced the reserve of $484,898 that was accumulated for emergency use. That fund now is down to $200,466 since $284,432 of it now has been budgeted to "meet the inflationary cost of salaries for all employees in the district and to finance the instructional program."

"State support of the local school district in any appreciable amount is but a figment of the educator's imagination," Greenwood declared.

Increased costs over the past six years, he said, have not been matched by revenue.

He pointed to personnel cost as the greatest "burden on the district's resources," explaining that 85 per cent of all district expenditures go to salaries and fringe benefits.

But, the Jefferson Elementary District is by state standards a "low-wealth district" that has some $12,500 assessed valuation for more than a decade behind each pupil in average day of attendance.

The district has survived on "increased state support, discretionary utilization of the special override taxes for restrictive purposes and sound school finance practices," he said.

However, he emphasized, the squeeze is on, inasmuch as it appears that the district's total income will not exceed $8,413,395 this year, although expenditures probably will be $284,432 more than that received.

Jeff Realignment Review Is Sought

Jefferson Elementary School District trustees, unlike their Jefferson High and South San Francisco Unified counterparts, have not taken as "routine" a proposal to realign district boundaries in the Serramonte tract region.

The plan has been in the mill for a number of months, and has gained the approval of both South San Francisco and Jefferson High district trustees.

It was considered to be a routine agenda item by most observers, and carried the recommendation of District Supt. Frank Greenwood.

The proposed boundary would be realigned to the nearest streets, Morton Drive and Lake-mount Street.

Presently the boundary intersects a number of lots, running down the middle of many in the area. The boundary was established prior to the home construction.

The two Jefferson Districts in Daly City would lose ten lots in the exchange involving the transfer totally of 49 lots to South San Francisco and 39 to the other two.

In making the proposal originally, Dr. Paul Nielsen, South San Francisco Unified superintendent, said, "It seems to me that this is the most reasonable boundary that we can find under present circumstances."

Presently, the boundary intersects a number of lots in the middle of blocks in the region.

But Trustees of the Jefferson Elementary Board want to review the proposal more thoroughly and it is to be the topic Monday night, when the Daly City district conducts a study session.

Trustee Dorothy Adams was concerned about busing in the area, while Trustee Bill Schumacher questioned the loss of tax base to the district in the shuffle of lines.

Record Crowd

A new all-time attendance record of 234,000 was set for the Grand National Rodeo, Horse Show and Livestock Exposition which closed its ten day engagement Sunday night, according to George W. Strathearn, general manager of the Cow Palace in Daly City.
